

Stock Traders Lose Money On Winchell Tips

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate investigators disclosed today they are looking into about 20 instances in which big stock market killings may have been made through the spreading of "tips and rumors."

This word came from Chairman Fulbright (D-Ark) of the Senate Banking Committee following testimony Friday that tips given by Walter Winchell on his television show have caused sharp market fluctuations.

The witness, President Edward T. McCormick of the American Stock Exchange, said those who followed a tip from Winchell and bought shares of Amurex Oil in 1953 lost more than two million dollars in less than an hour and a half.

Swamped With Orders

McCormick also told the committee, which is studying the bull market on stock exchanges, that speculators swamped his exchange with orders for stock in Pantepec Oil Co., a Venezuelan firm, following another Winchell tip two months ago. Again, he said, the tip-followers wound up losing money and would have lost much more if the exchange had not acted quickly to hold the price down.

Winchell, a newspaper columnist and radio and TV commentator, said in New York no one has challenged the accuracy of his report on the company, and that some of the country's more responsible newspapers have confirmed it.

Winchell said he himself has never had any direct or indirect interest in stocks and added in a statement:

"A sound rule is investigate before you invest. Don't buy anything you aren't prepared to hold for 20 years. That's why I buy U.S. government bonds exclusively."

May Call Commentator

Fulbright told reporters the committee hopes to learn whether anybody made quick money by buying Pantepec stock before Winchell's Jan. 9 telecast and selling it the next morning when the buying avalanche pushed the price up temporarily.

Asked whether he planned to call Winchell as a witness, Fulbright said "not at present."

But he said it was possible the commentator would be called if it should develop there was any connection between him and those who profited from the record sale of 357,000 shares of Pantepec stock.

McCormick testified there was unusual activity in the oil stock the week before Winchell's telecast. He said sales jumped to 170,000 shares in that week from a previous weekly average of about 20,000.

The exchange president has given the committee the names of traders and their brokers who had a part in the 170,000-share week. He also agreed to supply the names of those who took part in the rush of trading the following Monday.

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)—Gov. Williams has described as a "real all-American deal" proposal No. 3 on the April 4 ballot.

The proposal provides for a 100-million dollar school bond loaning plan.

Williams told a "workshop" meeting for school personnel in Grand Rapids last night voter approval of the proposal "will remove restrictions which have made school financing difficult."

Waterways Director Quits, Says Michigan Is Getting Nowhere

DETROIT (AP)—Describing Michigan as a "vacuum of inactivity," in its preparations for the St. Lawrence Seaway, Bert Robb has resigned as director of the State Waterways Commission.

Robb, a Detroit attorney and former Navy officer with extensive experience in shipping and cargo loading, has held the waterways director post since 1950. His resignation becomes effective March 31.

Red Boss Likes Leipzig Lingerie

LONDON (AP)—Soviet Deputy Premier A. I. Mikoyan attended the Leipzig Fair in East Germany this week, and an interesting report came from the area: Mikoyan was enthusiastic over the delicate colors in lingerie displays.

He should be, for there are few colors less inspiring than the narrow range of colors in Russian underwear.

Early in the 1920s the commissars nationalized step-ins, or panties, and the Soviets have gotten no further than the old fashioned cotton bloomer, elastic at the top and bottom, and coming inevitably in only two colors, blue and purple.

Weariness of the sameness of color and style, some Moscow maidens dyed their undies another color and—as the Russian clothesline reveals the deepest secrets of the linen closet—they seemed to have settled on red and yellow.

The big complaint has remained—give us something new in the way of Stanishky (underpants). Mikoyan naturally is interested in the flimsies since he is the official usually credited with importing revolutionary ideas about consumer goods from the West.

When he visited the United States before the war, the Russians began the wholesale manufacture of at least two items that created a mild sensation—a frozen block of vanilla ice cream, covered with chocolate and called "Eskimo" and a breakfast food called "korn fleks."

If Mikoyan continues his praise of East German undies when he gets home, milady of Moscow may get a new style in pants.

Refunds For Michigan Taxpayers In Mail

DETROIT (AP)—Income tax refund checks should be in the mail today for some Michigan taxpayers.

A. M. Menninger, director of the Internal Revenue Service in Michigan, said yesterday that refunds totaling $800,000 have been approved for 117,000 state residents.

Menninger said a fourth of them should receive their refunds today.

The average refund this year is $70, Menninger said.

Nationalists May Quit Matsu Islands, Chinese Press Says

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—Nationalist China and the United States went on with top military talks today amid intense speculation in the Chinese press that the Nationalists might be quitting their Matsu Island outposts.

There was no confirmation that Chiang Kai-shek's garrisons would leave the Matsus, 100 miles across the Formosa Strait from the northern tip of this nationalist island stronghold. But security consider-

Communists Whipped In India Election; Nehru Gets 99 Seats

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—Latest returns today from elections in Andhra state, where the Communists suffered a thumping setback, gave Prime Minister Nehru's Congress party 99 seats, an absolute majority.

The government radio said the Praja Socialists won 10 seats in the 196-member state legislature, the independents 18 and the Communists only 7. There are 62 seats yet to be decided.

Andhra, formerly part of Madras state, is probably the poorest of India's 29 states. The Communists regarded it as a plum to be picked but the Congress party fought them tooth and nail, under Nehru's direction, and the Communists now are grumbling that the whole election was fraudulent.

March Storms Build Up New Flood Threats

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Early March storms continued to plague wide areas of the country today, increasing the threat of floods in some places.

Wintry weather showed no letup in northern border states.

Flood waters menaced sections of Kentucky, West Virginia, Indiana and Pennsylvania.

Three young sisters and a brother, caught in a heavy hail and rain storm in Meade county, in northwestern Kentucky, drowned in a swollen creek.

Tornado Injures Three

A small tornado Friday night skipped along the Tennessee-Kentucky state line, about 40 miles north of Nashville, injuring three persons slightly. Property damage was reported extensive.

Thunderstorms rolled across the Ohio Valley and Central Appalachians. Hail pelted some areas. Farther north temperatures were below freezing and sleet or snow whipped parts of New England and New York State.

Heaviest rainfall, around two inches, was reported around Wheeling and Huntington, W. Va. The heavy fall heightened the danger of floods from the already-swollen Ohio River at Wheeling. At Pittsburgh, also hit by thunder-showers, the Ohio River rose to 23.1 feet, a little below the 25-foot stage.

Below Zero In West

Blizzard conditions were reported Friday night in sections of the Northern Plains. Visibility was zero for a time at Rapid City, S.D., which reported snow and wind gusts to 48 m.p.h. and temperatures near zero.

It was 17 degrees below zero in Glasgow, Mont., and -13 at Dickinson, N. D. Temperatures dropped 5 to 24 degrees from the lower Great Lakes region southwest into Oklahoma but they still were fairly mild for the date.

Smoking Lava Buries Homes In Hawaii; Damage 2 Million

PAHOA, Hawaii (AP)—Two rivers of lava, fed by two half-mile-long fissures and lava fountains belching 500 feet in the air, moved closer to the sea today. They left in their wake an estimated two million dollars damage.

Cane fields, timber and at least nine homes were buried in steaming lava. A village of 70 homes was a ghost town, virtually isolated by the molten rivers.

Four Hundred Homeless

The lava flows may reach the sea today.

This sparsely settled Puna district of eastern Hawaii is about half the size of Manhattan. For five days it has rocked and cracked under the strains of volcanic eruptions and earthquakes. Four hundred of its residents are homeless.

The steaming lava streams cut a two-mile-wide swath across the rich cane land for four miles.

Twenty square miles of the district, on the gentle slopes of Kilauea, is forbidden to all except civil defense officials and a few property owners. The area is studied with large earth cracks.

Village Worthless

Kapoho, evacuated Monday, will be cut off once the lava streams pouring around it plunge into the sea, about a mile away.

The tiny village lost at least five houses Thursday midnight to the lava flow. Most homes were not damaged but, isolated by lava fields, they will be worthless.

Lava flows take months and sometimes years to cool. One property owner said "you couldn't bulldoze your way through it in 50 years."

Much of the cane acreage which provided a living for the residents was under 10 feet of smoking lava.

Lawsuit Charges Borrowed Torso

NEW YORK (AP)—Everybody agrees that it's Jane Russell's face in an advertisement of a film, but the question of "which one owns the torso" is shaping up as a court battle.

Blonde Lyn Jones, a 21-year-old Queens model, claims RKO, makers of the movie "Underwater" without her consent superimposed her body on Miss Russell's head in an ad for the screenplay.

Miss Jones is suing RKO for $100,000 charging invasion of privacy.

RKO Atty. James B. Hayes Friday submitted an affidavit in state Supreme Court from artist Mario Zamparelli, who did the painting for the ad.

In his painting, Zamparelli was quoted as saying, he used four California models to portray a composite body—". . . not a picture of the body of any actual person. . ."

Justice Felix C. Benvenge denied a request by Miss Jones for a temporary injunction restraining RKO from using the ad until her suit has been decided. However, he ordered the case to trial but set no date.

After examining photos of Miss Jones and Miss Russell, both curvaceous, the judge commented: "Well, both of these ladies are very good looking."

Boost In Postal Rates Proposed

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Murray (D-Tenn.) called today for another boost in postage rates to follow pay raises which his committee has approved for Post Office employees.

Murray is chairman of the House Post Office Committee, which Friday voted an average 7½ per cent pay raise costing 150 million dollars a year for 518,000 postal workers.

A similar increase for 1,200,000 Civil Service Workers, costing more than 200 million dollars a year, will be considered by the committee the week after next.

Limit On Horse Race Tracks In Detroit Sought By Senator

LANSING (AP)—Legislation which would prevent operating a horse race track at the State Fair Grounds in Detroit was filed in the Senate Friday by Sen. Perry W. Greene (R-Grand Rapids).

It would restrict the number of tracks in the Detroit area to three. The law now permits four, including the fair grounds track. In addition the new bill would repeal the state's right to rent state property for a track.

The bill, touching other racing matters, would make it a crime to administer stimulants or depressants to race horses, to conspire to do so, to allow a horse to race within 24 hours of receiving such injections, to use or possess drugs or devices to stimulate or depress horses at race tracks and to attempt in any way to influence the outcome of races.

Blast Of Shotgun Ends Wild Career Of Wyoming Killer

GREEN RIVER, Wyo. (AP)—An officer defied threats to a hostage mother and two children to end a killer's 16-hour crime spree with a charge from a sawed-off shotgun Friday night.

W. G. Sherman, special agent for the Union Pacific Railroad, fired through a window of the embattled home to kill ex-convict Melvin Henry Gray, 27.

Gray, who earlier killed one man, wounded three others and kidnapped a 17-year-old youth, took refuge in the home of Mrs. Gus Kalivas after a running gunfight through this town of 3,187. It climaxed one of the most intensive manhunts in Wyoming history.

Officers Badly Wounded

While the desperado menaced Mrs. Kalivas and two children, one of a score of officers encircling the house called and distracted his attention. Sherman seized the opportunity to sneak unseen to a front window and fire.

The blast caught the killer in the chest. He stumbled into an adjoining bedroom and officers found him dead seconds later.

One of Gray's pursuers, Deputy Sheriff Ed Phillips of nearby Rock Springs, died of his wounds at a hospital there early today. A bullet fired by Gray in a chase through Green River's railroad yards hit Phillips in the chest.

Frank Kulinski, Kemmerer town marshal, was wounded seriously after Gray disarmed him and two companions in the pre-dawn hours at Frontier, Wyo., 87 miles north-west of here. In that same fight, Albert Maffei, 35, Kemmerer garage owner, was killed, and Don Wagner, 35, also of Kemmerer, was wounded slightly.

Hostage Unharmed

A young Evanston, Wyo., service station attendant held hostage in his car more than eight hours, Robert Durrant, was not harmed. The day-long manhunt began when Kulinski and his companions gave chase to Gray's car as they saw it leaving the scene of a reported burglary.

They spotted the car at Frontier, three miles north of Kemmerer, but were taken by surprise when the gunman stepped from hiding. He commanded them to drive north a short distance, stopped the car and ordered the trio to dismount. Then, without warning, Gray shot Kulinski in the stomach. Next he fired at Wagner, the bullet grazing his cheek. Maffei was struck by three bullets as he fled, and fell dead.

Kulinski staggered three miles into town to report the shootings, and other officers took up the chase. Gray abandoned his getaway car, circled around his pursuers and seized young Durrant at Evanston, 39 miles south of Kemmerer.

Experts Hunt Cure For Baby 'Bleeder' In Chicago Hospital

CHICAGO (AP)—The top men of several medical skills have joined in the hope of finding a cure for Peggy Lee Davis, pretty, 15-month-old mystery "bleeder."

The blue-eyed, auburn-haired girl is suffering from a baffling blood malady that has killed her sister and afflicts her brother and mother.

Doctors at Presbyterian Hospital have ruled out hemophilia. But they can find no record in medical history of a similar case. After 12 days of tests, they say only that they have found several leads which could turn out to be promising.

Picture of Health

Deceptively, Peggy is the picture of health and happiness in her padded crib. The crib is padded to protect her from cuts or scratches that could start the dread bleeding.

But the bleeding also can start from no apparent cause. A nose bleed of one day duration has drained off as much as one-third of the 25-pound girl's total body blood capacity.

Peggy showed no signs of the malady until she was 7 months old.

However, a year and a half ago Peggy's sister died of a massive bowel hemorrhage at the age of 17 months. And Peggy's 6-year-old brother has had 53 transfusions to replace blood that seeped into his bowels, joints and muscles.

Life of Transfusions

Doctors said Peggy's 26-year-old mother, Mrs. Joan Davis of Lisco, Neb., and Mrs. Davis' two sisters suffer in lesser degree from the same blood condition.

Peggy had 20 blood transfusions before Dr. F. V. Vesely, 40, of Lowell, Neb., brought her and her mother from Lisco to Chicago at his own expense. Her father, Alvin, 31, remained home. Peggy has suffered no additional bleeding since arriving at Presbyterian Hospital Feb. 21. This does not particularly encourage the doctors, however, because of the unpredictability of the malady.

But unless her condition improves or doctors find the cause and cure, she faces a lifetime of blood transfusions with the ever present danger of massive and possibly hidden internal hemorrhage.

Council Deplores Bloody Armed Attack At Gaza

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—The U. N. Security Council has let Israel know she faces strong condemnation unless she can produce a better defense of her role in the bloody Gaza incident.

The 11-nation council made this clear Friday as it held an urgent session to consider Monday's armed clash near Gaza, Egypt, that killed 39 Egyptians and 8 Israelis.

Debate Held Up

All council members, except Russia which sat silent, indicated that on the basis of preliminary reports they held Israel responsible.

The council agreed to a U. S. proposal to hold up further debate on the explosive issue until Maj. Gen. Edson L. M. Burns, U. N. truce chief in Palestine, gets here to make a personal report on his investigation of the incident.

Then, in a plea voiced through its president, Selim Serper of Turkey, the council urged both sides to "maintain calmness and tranquility and abstain from the use of force."

Egypt sought the urgent meeting this week, accusing Israel of "violent and premeditated aggression" against Egyptian forces in violation of the 1949 Egypt-Israel armistice agreement.

Sympathy For Cairo

Israel quickly countered, charging Egypt with "continuous violations" of the 1949 pact and various council resolutions. She recalled armed attacks by Egypt and accused the Cairo government of refusing to negotiate a peace treaty.

In some 90 minutes, 10 of the 11 council members spoke up to deplore the Gaza incident. Many implicitly blamed Israel. Six offered sympathy to Egypt on loss of life. None did so to Israel.

James J. Wadsworth of the United States called the affair "indefensible from any standpoint."

FAMILIES EVACUATED

GAZA, Egypt-Held Palestine (AP)—Sixteen wives and children of U. N. truce observers were evacuated today from Gaza as tension mounted in the refugee-filled Arab area.

Firing between Egyptian and Israeli outposts for 10 minutes was reported Friday night at the border area of Deir El Ballah. The evacuation of six women and 10 children was ordered by the U. N. commander who said "the situation is becoming very difficult because of the agitation of thousands of refugees in Gaza."

About 20 other wives and children of U. N. workers and relief agency (UNWRA) officials still remained in Gaza under a protective

Penn Railway Strike Averted By Mediation

WASHINGTON (AP)—Federal intervention apparently has headed off a threatened strike of 20,000 CIO maintenance men against the Pennsylvania Railroad.

Chairman Francis A. O'Neill of the National Railway Mediation Board announced Friday night officials of the CIO Transport Workers Union had informed him by phone they were calling off the walkout, scheduled for midnight Sunday.

O'Neill said the union had accepted a mediation board offer to take a hand in working out a settlement of the dispute, which grows out of the economy layoff of 12,000 workers.

Hope State Building Can Be Completed This Year

Construction of a $300,000 city-owned building to house state agencies will be started in Escanaba within a couple of weeks and the city hopes to have it completed before the end of this year.

Contracts are expected to be signed Monday with low bidders whose bids were accepted by the City Council in special meeting yesterday. The low bids for general construction, plumbing and heating, and electrical work total $267,127.

Arne and Walter Arntzen of G. Arntzen Architect & Company, architects retained by the city on the project, yesterday told the Council that additional costs will include movable partitions which will be installed after the needs of tenants are determined; and some soil tests for footings before construction starts.

The building will be located facing Ludington Street in the 300 block. It will be 224 feet long and have an average width of 58 feet. There will be a total of 25,000 square feet of floor space.

Designed to provide housing for state agencies, the building will be two stories with a part basement, will have a large hearing room, and heat will be supplied by a connection with the city's central steam heating main. Movable partitions will permit an interior arrangement to suit the needs of the tenants.

The steel frame building will have an exterior of brick with stone trim; all windows will have insulating glass in aluminum frames; the entrance lobby will have floors surfaced with quarried marble and the ceiling will be attractively lighted, architects report.

The hearing or assembly room, used when required by any of the state agencies, will have a special wood paneled interior to typify the Northern Michigan locale. The panels will be of curly maple veneers, and the log from which matching veneers will come has already been selected at the Birds Eye Veneer Company plant in Escanaba, the architects said.

Low bids accepted by the city for construction of the building are as follows:

Erling Arntzen, Escanaba, architectural trades, $213,486; Moersch & Degnan, Escanaba, combined heating and plumbing, $26,697; and V & M Electric Co., Menominee, electrical work, $26,944.

Smelt Fishing Dispute Flares

A group of commercial fishermen, meeting at Cedar River Town Hall Thursday night, agreed to quit fishing for smelt until smelt prices reach at least five cents a pound but local fish buyers reported today that the action is not meeting with general success locally. The current price of smelt is reportedly three cents a pound.

The Cedar River meeting was attended by 51 of the 156 licensed commercial fishermen in the area along the west shore of Green Bay from Peshtigo Harbor to Escanaba. Wendell Beaucock, president of the Menominee County Fishermen's Association which sponsored the meeting, said fishermen could not meet operation costs at three cents a pound.

"There is only one way to combat the low prices," he said, "and that is to have all fishermen pull out their nets until the price is better. We agreed not to fish until the price reaches five cents a pound. We have checkers assigned to all fishing areas in Green Bay waters and no nets will be lifted until the prices are boosted."

Roy Jensen of the Jensen and Jensen market reported this morning that about 90 per cent of the fishermen in this area are continuing to lift smelt nets.

"It is a case of supply and demand," Jensen said.

Law enforcement officers are keeping a close check on the situation in the wake of reported threats against fishermen who refuse to quit fishing.

Airport Grants To Be Reviewed

WASHINGTON (AP)—Two Michigan representatives Friday carried to the White House their protests against allocation of Upper Peninsula airport improvement funds and were assured of a review.

Reps. Bennett and Knox, Republicans, conferred with Gerald Morgan, a presidential secretary, about omission of any money for the Iron Mountain and Escanaba airports in the Michigan allocation by the Civil Aeronautics Administration.

They said Morgan told them the CAA allocation of $551,000 among the state's airports would be reviewed.

The State Department of Aeronautics, they said, had recommended $30,000 each for the Escanaba and Iron Mountain airports.

The CAA allocation, ignoring the Michigan department's recommendation, included Grand Rapids $165,000, Lansing $66,000, Muskegon $65,530 and Benton Harbor $50,000, all in the Lower Peninsula.

Progress To Continue At U. Of M., Dr. Hatcher Assures Local Alumni

president of the 11th District U-M Alumni Association; John A. Lemmer, superintendent of schools in Escanaba; Dr. Hatcher; J. Joseph Herbert, Manistique, chairman of the board of regents of the University of Michigan; and George Perrin, Escanaba, district director of the U of M Alumni Association. (Daily Press Photo)

Continued progress in the maintenance of high standards at the University of Michigan, despite tremendous growth in enrollment, was pledged last night by Dr. Harlan Hatcher, university president, in a talk to alumni and friends of the university at a dinner last night in the Delta Hotel.

About 95 persons attended the dinner meeting honoring the U. of M. president, at which John A. Lemmer, Escanaba superintendent of schools, presided. Alumni from Delta and Schoolcraft counties attended.

Introduced were J. Joseph Herbert, Manistique, chairman of the U. of M. Board of Regents; George Perrin, Escanaba, director of the 11th District, U. of M. Alumni Association; and Charles Follo, Escanaba, extension service supervisor in the Upper Peninsula for the university.

Quality of Education
Dr. Hatcher today went to Menominee where he is concluding a week-long speaking tour of the Upper Peninsula.

"There has been no question ever about the quality and distinction of the university," Dr. Hatcher said. "Given the proper faculty and facilities, there is no incompatibility between size and excellence."

Dr. Hatcher stressed that "the thing we have to be concerned about is the quality of education which Michigan will continue to provide and require of those who come to her."

In minimizing the effects of enrollment growth upon quality of education at Michigan, Dr. Hatcher pictured the U. of M. as 15 "separate and distinct" college units, each of them a "closely-knit, homogenous group."

By way of example, the university president pointed out that, according to an impartial report, the quality of education presented at Michigan's medical school has been unimpaired, despite the fact that the university's school of medicine is the largest in the nation.

3,000 Freshmen Enroll

Dr. Hatcher declared that Michigan has been either the largest or among the largest of the great universities in the nation during any of the decades of the modern age. The university's enrollment this year is 18,500. Next year, it is expected to be 19,500.

He labeled as "nonsense" reports that "we're not going to have any more freshmen at Michigan."

"There is nothing in modern educational thinking to indicate you can't support a freshman-sophomore class as a base (in a large university). There are 3,000 freshmen at Michigan now. We will always have that many."

Dr. Hatcher said that, despite its high requirements, the university has the "lowest mortality rate" (students dropping out of school) of any institution of its size.

In his three years at Michigan, he has announced plans for a substantial expansion of the University's physical plant through acquisition of the North Campus, has seen successful completion of the Michigan Memorial-Phoenix Project campaign for funds, and has given the University firm leadership in educational developments.

Phoenix Project

Plans for the North Campus were announced in the fall of 1951, and since that time one building has been completed in the new area and another started. Two more are to be begun within this year. During Dr. Hatcher's administration, the University's physical plant also has been expanded by completion of two new buildings in the hospital area, by a three-unit classroom addition to Angell Hall and by the women's swimming pool building.

In 1953, Dr. Hatcher announced completion of the Michigan-Memorial-Phoenix Project campaign for $6,500,000 to be used for research on peaceful uses for atomic energy. By the beginning of 1954, the fund had reached $7,400,000 with several scores of research projects already underway in the Phoenix Project. The University plans to begin construction early in 1954 of a building on the North Campus for additional research laboratories in this field.

During Dr. Hatcher's presidency, the University likewise has expanded its work in educational television, applying for a license to operate an educational channel; it has reorganized its curriculum in nursing so that all students in this field now earn a bachelor's degree; it has established a summer Institute on the Near East to assist in training experts for work in this vitally important area of the world; and made other important additions to its educational offerings.

Construction Of State Office Building Here Becomes Reality

THE last hurdle to the construction of a state office building in Escanaba was cleared Thursday night when bids were opened for the project. The low bids were within the limits of funds available for the building and yesterday the City Council awarded the general and the auxiliary contracts.

This action assures the State of Michigan that the project, long under discussion, will be consummated. The state, in turn, can make arrangements to assign various state agencies to space within the building.

This $300,000 project will prove to be a valuable economic investment for Escanaba. That it is a bargain for taxpayers is obvious. The building costs have been provided by the Catherine Bonifas bequest so taxpayers actually will pay only the money involved in securing the site.

Under the arrangements made by the City of Escanaba with the State of Michigan, the state will pay rentals for the space utilized for state agencies. Ultimately the rentals will offset the building costs and the property then will become under state ownership.

In the meantime, the city is obligated to set aside rental income to reestablish the funds bequeathed by Mrs. Bonifas for public recreation and for a combined city hall-county courthouse building. Mrs. Bonifas bequeathed $100,000 for each of these purposes to the City of Escanaba, in addition to $100,000 for the state office building. The entire $300,000 has been made available by court action for the construction of the state office building, but with the provision that the construction of the state office building be regarded as an investment of trust funds for subsequent attainment of other objectives of the Bonifas bequest.

This lovely building, overlooking Bay de Noc, will be a gem to sparkle the east end of Ludington Street. It will provide an anchor for general rehabilitation of that section of the main street. And, of course, the existence of such a building should be an inducement to attract state agencies to Escanaba.

Budd Schulberg—who writes wonderful books, but drives his publisher crazy by never delivering them on time (I know, because I'm the publisher!)—explained his technique to Reporter Ed Wallace. "First," said Budd, "I clean the typewriter. Then I go through my shelves and return all borrowed books. Then I play with my three children. Then, if it's warm, I go for a swim. By then, it's time to clean the typewriter again."

And that's why Budd's books are so few and far between. But they're worth waiting for!

Up in Katonah, N. Y., there's a house that was built in 1801 for John Jay, first Chief Justice of the U. S. Supreme Court. The Jay family considers the old library a particularly sacred spot. Legend has it that a weekend guest once fainted, and

'Fellowcitizens With The Saints'

By WILLIAM E. GILROY, D. D.

The quotation that I have used in my title is from Paul's Epistle to the Ephesians (Eph. 2:19). The full quotation is: "Now therefore (that is, by access to God through Christ) ye are no more strangers and foreigners, but fellowcitizens with the saints, and of the household of God."

One of the first effects of the beginnings of Christianity was a leveling of all races and classes, or one might more properly say an elevation to a higher level of all races and classes, in the new experience of new life in Christ and the fellowship of love.

The Apostle John defined that new life in terms of Christian love: "We know that we have passed from death unto life, because we love the brethren" (1 John 3:14).

The interracial nature of the new life and the Christian fellowship became marked very early on the Day of Pentecost, with its amazing conglomeration of those of various races, places and languages, all bound together in a great experience of faith, love and vision (Acts 2:9-12).

And as the new movement of faith and love in Christ spread throughout the Roman Empire, Paul emphasized the unifying nature of the Christian experience, in which, as he wrote "there is neither Greek nor Jew, barbarian, Scythian, bond nor free; but Christ is all in all."

It was a marvelous conception, justified by the facts. There were "saints in Caesar's household" (Philippians 4:22). There were Christian masters and slaves, under the obligation of brotherly love (See the Book of Philemon). There were Roman centurians, jailers (Acts 16) and common soldiers. There were noble Greeks and eminent Jews. But they were all "one in Christ."

Twenty centuries after Christ, even in so-called Christendom, the world is torn with racial prejudices, section hatreds and international rivalries, with many professing Christians often foremost in campaigns of intolerance and bigotry.

How far the modern world is behind Paul and the early Christians. How far Christendom is short of being Christian!

If there is any hope for this world, surely it must be in the recovery and spread of that early Christian experience that brought not a leveling but an elevating sense of fellowship as a new bond of life and human relationships.

We talk much of democracy, largely denied in practice, but there in that early Christianity was a real and spiritual democracy setting an ideal and standard for all time. There seems little doubt that Paul, with an imperial vision, set that Christian community as a pattern for the empire he wished to achieve.

We are a long way from it, but what happened in the early Christian Church revealed it as a possibility. Perhaps, as many believe, it will be realized in a heavenly hereafter. But Jesus spoke of hope for earth. He taught men to pray that the will of God should be done on earth as it is in heaven.

And when Paul greeted his fellow Christians as "fellowcitizens with the saints" it was with a great yearning that all men might know what he had experienced (Acts 26:29).

Today In Washington

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON—President Eisenhower really doesn't want to be renominated in 1956. There's nothing artful or deceptive about his reluctance. It is genuine.

For many months, however, his closest friends and the members of his official family and the political leaders of the Republican party have been talking to him about their hopes that he would consent to renomination. They take it for granted that he will finally accede to their wishes.

But the position of Mr. Eisenhower as outlined in his latest press conference is revealing. He has asked how he felt about the view of Republican leaders that he was indispensable to a party victory. The reply by the President was as follows:

"Did you ever think what a fate civilization would suffer if there was such a thing as an indispensable man? When he went the way of all flesh, what would happen? It would be a calamity, wouldn't it? I don't think we need fear that."

"INDISPENSABLE MAN"

Now Mr. Eisenhower is absolutely logical about it, but he overlooked one important fact—namely, as long as there is an "indispensable man" around, he will be kept in high office. It doesn't always matter, either whether he is in full physical vigor or beyond 65 years of age, as witness the fact that Winston Churchill at 80 is still the most popular and politically the strongest leader the Conservative party in Britain can get at the moment to keep the Labor party out of power.

The words "indispensable man" have a familiar ring to some of us who covered the three-cornered presidential campaign of 1912. It was Woodrow Wilson, the Democratic nominee, who was using the phrase then against Theodore Roosevelt. The latter had served two terms in the presidency—one when as vice president he succeeded McKinley in 1901 after the assassination of McKinley, and the other after his own election in 1904. But nevertheless Mr. Roosevelt was being called a "third term" in the 1912 campaign and was being offered as an "indispensable man" by the "progressive" faction of the Republican party as against the regular nominee, President Taft. Here is what Mr. Wilson said about it in his formal speech accepting the Democratic nomination in August 1912:

"A presidential campaign may easily degenerate into a mere personal contest and so lose its real dignity and significance. There is no indispensable man. The government will not collapse and go to pieces if any one of the gentlemen who are seeking to be entrusted with its guidance should be left at home. But men are instruments. We are as important as the cause we represent, and in order to be important must really represent a cause."

REPRESENTS GREAT CAUSE

Mr. Eisenhower can agree with that argument and find himself accepting the nomination of his own party in 1956. For the President today does represent a great cause—the nation's mandate that he find the way to an honorable peace.

Mr. Eisenhower probably is convinced at the moment that, if his party had to turn elsewhere, it would find a good man who would make an effective campaign based on the Republican record. But this is something to which the party leaders cannot turn their minds as long as Dwight Eisenhower doesn't say the fateful words—that he would not accept if nominated.

Those are words which, on the other hand, Mr. Eisenhower is never likely to say. They run counter to his high sense of duty. As a military man, he has been accustomed to receiving assignments not geared to his personal convenience or desire. He has learned to recognize instantly a call to duty. He, to be sure, had achieved eminence as the commander-in-chief of Allied forces in Europe in the biggest war in history and he had made a great record. He needed no more honors.

Gen. Eisenhower made it clear in 1948 and in 1951 that he didn't want a political career. But he succumbed eventually to the argument that it was his duty to serve if the people so desired. And when the people of the country—not just the Republican leaders—say he is needed at the helm in perhaps one of the most dangerous periods in all history, it seems certain that Mr. Eisenhower will put aside his desire for a private life in retirement and continue to serve in the presidency.

Town Really Wanted Bridge; Gets First A-Power Instead

SHIPPINGPORT, Pa. —(NEA)—Science is a puzzle to the 408 citizens of this town on the Ohio River.

All they've ever asked of it is a 1200-foot bridge to connect them with Midland's steel mills on the opposite side. This would save them a 15-mile trip to the nearest crossing and eliminate the uncertain little ferry which chugs across the current.

"But what do these great scientists and engineers give us before the bridge we need?" asks Mrs. Bertha Barnhart, one of the oldest residents of the community. "Why! History's first private atomic electricity plant!"

"Now I ask you!" she sputters. "Does that make any sense?"

Most of Shippingport's citizens share Mrs. Barnhart's sentiments and are trying to guess what it will do to their lives to have the country's first full-scale atomic power plant built smack dab in their back yard.

Only a few persons express mild apprehension about the 10-ton uranium reactor core of the plant getting out of control.

"I figure if there was any danger to us from the reactor they wouldn't put it here," says George White, voicing the majority opinion of the town.

George has a mile-long combat record from World War II. He has three children, works in a steel mill across the river, and is a member of Shippingport's board of education. His house will be the closest one to the new plant.

"I guess I'll get the first volt of atomic electricity that comes out of the plant, too," he says, "because the line goes right by the house here."

However, he does not seem too impressed with the unique historical distinction due him some time in 1957. He's more concerned about what is going to happen to his town when thousands of construction workers swarm in soon to begin building the plant.

Workers are just now stringing power lines to the site for the construction firm which will soon move into the 400-acre area. The Duquesne Light Co. of Pittsburgh, 25 miles east of here—will run the new A-plant and is supervising construction of the conventional generator sections, expected to cost $14,000,000.

The Atomic Energy Commission is spending $33,000,000 for the reactor section, which will be built and installed by Westinghouse.

It's a joint private-public arrangement in order to produce the first practical test of the use of nuclear electric power. The plant's 60,000 kilowatt output will not be as cheap to produce as Duquesne's electricity from coal. But this will not change their customers' bills because Uncle Sam is supporting the project for its experimental value.

As an additional safeguard to Shippingport's citizens, the plant will be buried underground in a gigantic case of steel and concrete.

The AEC recently said that a remote chance always existed that an accident in the reactor would cause radioactive contamination of the area. It would not be in the nature of an explosion.

As a result AEC is permitting insurance firms to study its secret data with the possibility of creating some new form of coverage for persons living in the neighborhood of atomic power plants.

But the citizens of Shippingport have heard nothing about this and aren't particularly concerned.

SHIPPINGPORT'S MRS. BERTHA BARNHART: "Now I ask you!"

I would not have an atomic plant put a mile and one-half from my home," says Mrs. Edna Allison, a long-time resident of the area. "But as long as they're putting it there, there's no sense getting upset about it or looking for new kinds of insurance."

Among Shippingport's citizens the only one making active plans for the effect of the new plant is Postmistress Florence Cook, who also runs the town's only grocery store.

"I've been doing business here for many years and everything has been going quietly," she says, "but with this new plant I'm preparing for a lot more mail business and probably selling more groceries." And she adds wistfully:

"Maybe the plant will give us a bridge—somehow."

Edson In Washington

By PETER EDSON

(NEA Washington Correspondent)

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Outmoded state laws and city ordinances limited property assessment, tax rates and bonded indebtedness provide the greatest obstacle to the construction of adequate public school facilities in the United States.

These largely overlooked facts were brought out in the testimony of U. S. Commissioner of Education Samuel Brownell, who presented the Administration's school-aid program to the Senate Committee on Education. This is the first time that the real, underlying reasons for the U. S. school shortage have been spread on the record.

The general impression has been that today's school overcrowding is due to the facts that few new schools were built during the war years and that there was a great increase in the number of children born during the war years and immediately after. This is only part of the story.

The full story must include the reasons why state and local governments have not been able to keep up with the increasing school population, the moving of many families from old city centers into the suburbs and the setting of many newly formed families in new communities.

AS DR. BROWNELL POINTS OUT, school districts in all the states can finance construction of new buildings from current tax revenues or the sale of school bonds. In only 16 states, the state government can give money to local school districts. In five states the state government can make loans to local school districts. In four states, state agencies can build schools and rent them to the local communities.

Under any of these procedures, it takes from two to three years to build a school, once the school board makes up its mind to do it. A principal delay comes in getting voters to approve bond issues. In ten states there are tax limits restricting local issuance of school bonds.

Twenty-six state constitutions limit school bond indebtedness. Twenty-one states have laws limiting school bond indebtedness.

In 13 states these limits are from 12 to 50 per cent of the taxable property valuation. In 22 states the limit is 7 to 12 per cent. In the remaining 13 states, the limit is only 2 to 7 per cent. The 35 states in the two latter groups obviously can't raise as much money for new schools as those in the first group.

OBSELETE PROPERTY ASSESSMENT ratios also cut down the amount of money many school districts can raise. Dr. Brownell cites the case of one typical city where property was assessed for 38 per cent of value, for a total of $142 million. If property were assessed at full value, the total would have been $374 million.

Since the bonded debt limit of this district was 10 per cent of assessed property valuation, it was limited to $14 million indebtedness for school construction. A shift to full valuation permitted this district to increase its school bond indebtedness to $37 million and solved its school shortage.

Until these artificial restrictions on school construction are removed from state laws, local school districts are hamstringed in trying to keep up with their school needs.

This is an important point for the Administration, which wants to have local communities solve their own problems instead of relying on the federal government. The states can't meet their own problems till they modernize their laws.

ONE OTHER PART OF THIS school shortage problem not sufficiently understood is that it is concentrated largely in city and suburban areas. In rural areas, the problem is largely one of replacing old buildings with more modern schools.

There are 63,000 school districts in the U. S. and this districting is obsolete in many places, Dr. Brownell says.

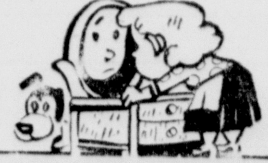

In 2000 districts—3 per cent of this total—there are 20 million pupils. This is two-thirds of today's total public school population, kindergarten through high school.

This is where schools are scandalously overcrowded. It is in 1300 school systems in cities of over 10,000 population and 700 counties which operate all schools for their city, suburban, village and rural areas.

Report Given On Child Care

MARQUETTE — A comparative analysis of the care given to children in Upper Michigan by the Diocese of Marquette at its two institutions, Holy Family Home, Marquette, and St. Joseph's Home, Assinins, and by its Catholic Social Service Agency reveals a marked growth since 1946.

The following is a presentation of the growth of services rendered needy children by the diocese from 1946 to 1955:

	1946	1951	1954
Total	247	304	378
Institutions	168	215	167
Foster Homes	7	4	31
Vacation Homes	0	0	62
Adoptions	14	19	27
Planned for in other ways	0	11	92
Family Service	0	0	37
Boysville	0	3	13

The report shows a steady increase in the number of children receiving service through diocesan support.

Home care is recognized by all engaged in child welfare work as best suited for all concerned. In its welfare program, the diocese has attempted to substitute for the loss of home by providing care at its two institutions over the years while yet keeping pace with welfare techniques by seeking additional home opportunities as provided in the foster home program.

Such endeavor has taxed the charity budget of the diocese and will continue to do so as services are expanded under the relatively new Catholic Social Service Agency.

In anticipation of expanding services and to better provide for its clients, the diocese has opened Catholic Social Services offices in Escanaba and Calumet.

Home Care Increased

There has been no great fluctuation in the number of youngsters cared for in the two diocesan homes during any given year. Each year about the same number of children are admitted, but because of better planning the children spend a shorter time in the institutions. Caseworkers now provide additional resources that better serve the child's needs and extend care to a larger number of children.

Children requiring long term care no longer need to spend their whole childhood in an institution. The number of foster parents participating in the program of home care has grown from seven in 1946 to 35 in 1955. Likewise, a type of home care never provided before is the vacation home. Under this children spend Christmas holidays and summer vacation time with friendly and understanding families. While some of this care is provided free, the administrative cost and placement expenses must be borne by the diocese.

The report also indicates the increase in the use of the adoptive home. Not only infants, but older children are now being placed for adoption. This program is the most expensive and time consuming part of the diocesan charities program.

Preventive Work

An interesting figure is the number of children for whom plans were made and problems settled without resorting to the use of the institution or foster home. This is a phase of preventive work now provided by professional casework service. These cases never become a financial burden. If other plans had not been made by the caseworkers and these 92 children had been in either home or foster homes, the budget of the diocese would have been increased by approximately $150 a day.

Personnel involved in this expanding work of charity includes 24 nuns, two priests, five caseworkers and seven farm and institution workers.

The program maintained in Upper Michigan by the diocese, provides the counties of the peninsula with an annual endowment of well over $95,000.

City Workers Earn Twice As Much As Their Farm Cousins

WASHINGTON — The Agriculture Department has reported that town and city folk earned, on the average, exactly twice as much income in 1954 as did their farm cousins.

The agency said final income figures show that the income of the farm population from both farm and nonfarm sources averaged $918 compared with an average of $1,836 for the nonfarm population.

Population Declines
The 1954 average farm population income was $4 more than in 1953, while the nonfarm average was down $50. The farm average increased despite a smaller total agricultural income because the farm population declined 3 1/2 per cent.

In figuring farm income, the department took into account the value of farm products sold or used in the farm home during the year, plus government payments to farmers and the rental value of farm dwellings.

The department said the net income — amount left after payment of production costs — of the nation's farms averaged $2,268 last year compared with $2,276 in 1953. The number of farms declined 1 per cent.

Farmers were reported to have received $29,954,000,000 from marketings of farm products compared with $31,413,000,000 the previous year. Direct government subsidy payments totaled 257 million dollars compared with 213 millions the previous year.

Inventories Built Up
Farm production expenses were estimated at $21,863,000,000 compared with $22,155,000,000 in 1953. Farm operators' net income was reported at $12,302,000,000 compared with $12,479,000,000 the previous year.

The department said farmers received $5,700,000,000 in income from nonfarm sources compared with $6,100,000,000 the previous year.

Farmers retained as net income only 35 per cent of their gross income last year, the smallest percentage in 22 years.

The department said farmers built up their inventories of livestock and some grains last year. As a result the inventory value of farm products held on farms at the end of 1954 was $18 million dollars larger than at the beginning of the year. In 1953, the inventory value declined 796 millions.

Career Soldier Promised Raise

WASHINGTON — After three young service wives testified they needed more money to make ends meet, a House Armed Services subcommittee has unanimously approved a 735-million-dollar pay raise for the armed forces.

Chairman Kilday (D-Tex.) said the measure will go to the full committee Tuesday. He said he looks for a House vote about Thursday.

The measure provides no in-service pay raise, ranging from 6 to 25 per cent, for enlisted men with over two years' service. The purpose is to encourage career service in the armed forces.

The measure provides no increases for enlisted personnel with less than two years' service.

In terms of money, the proposed boosts range from $7.80 a month for an Army private with over two years' service, or a total of $98.80, to $83.41 for a major general with over 30 years' duty, bringing him to $1,076.40 monthly.

The measure also would establish a new "dislocation allowance" consisting of one month's basic pay for families making one permanent change of station in a year during peacetime. Per diem travel pay would be increased from $9 to $12.

Blinded And Deaf Parents Hope To Keep Their Baby

AKRON, Ohio — Armed with trust in God and support from their neighbors, a blind and deaf couple try Monday to convince a Juvenile Court judge that, in spite of their handicap, they should be allowed to rear their normal 11-day-old son.

"What is best for the baby is our only concern," said the head of the Summit County Welfare Department, which left a note for Harold Hathaway, 53, and his wife Georgia, 32, suggesting their baby, Clarence, be placed in a foster home.

Mother 3-foot-2

A neighbor spelled the note's message into Hathaway's palm earlier this week at the neat bungalow the couple bought in nearby Stow after their marriage in Topeka, Kan., a little more than a year ago.

"They can't take my baby away from me," said Mrs. Hathaway. "Clarence is the only thing I ever had of my own in my whole life."

A tiny woman of only 3 feet 2, Mrs. Hathaway was born in South Dakota and grew up as an orphan. She became acquainted with her husband through a Braille correspondence.

Her doctor says she has a heart condition and ought not to be separated from her infant.

No Help Needed

"We are trusting in God, and we believe He won't fail us," said Hathaway, a former furniture repairman who became blind a few years ago. His only income now is his pension.

"We own our own furniture," he said. "Our home is paid for. We are immensely happy. We have paid our hospital and doctor bills of $169. We don't need any help."

"Sure my wife is blind, but she can cook and care for a baby as well as anyone. We do all our own housework and cooking and do not want to bother anyone."

Thirty neighbors already have petitioned that the Hathaways "be given a fair chance to prove they can be good parents."

Meditations for LENT

By DR. J. CARTER SWAIM
Dept. of English Bible,

Written for NEA Service

Lent is a season of self-denial. A characteristic text is to be found in the words of Jesus: "If any man would come after me, let him deny himself and take up his cross and follow me" (Mark 8:34, RSV). We ordinarily interpret this to mean: "let him deny to himself" this or that. On that basis, during Lent we forego cigarettes, ice cream sodas, the theater.

While these may be useful disciplines, this is not what Jesus meant. It is not that we are to deny to ourselves this or that, but that we are to deny ourselves.

The Greek word here is a very strong one. It means "say no" to oneself, disown, repudiate, deny utterly. We use "self-denial" as if it meant temporarily depriving oneself of chocolates or withholding the gratification of other desires.

In the Biblical sense the term means to turn one's back upon the self, push it from the center of our being, cease to regard it as the be-all and the end-all of existence. It means to have a new focus of interest outside oneself.

The rich young ruler had denied to himself the petty indulgences which were habitual with the men of his class, but he was not willing to say no to himself. The result was that "he went away sorrowful" (Matthew 19:22, RSV). Paul, on the other hand, had so far pushed himself out of the center that he could say: "it is no longer I who live, but Christ who lives in me" (Galatians 2:20, RSV).

Priming Sealer Is Key To Fine Plywood Finish

At the stage of the do-it-yourself boom it's safe to say that home mechanics are pretty well versed on the subject of fir plywood. For it is the best-known plywood, and widely used.

Also, it's economical and easy to work with. But finishing it presents a small problem because of the characteristic "wild" grain of the face veneer. The solution lies in the use of a good primer or pre-sealer.

For instance, best results are obtained with conventional wall and woodwork paints if the plywood is first sealed with a coating of white sealer or interior white undercoater. If the primer or sealer is not used, the first coat of paint increases grain unevenly.

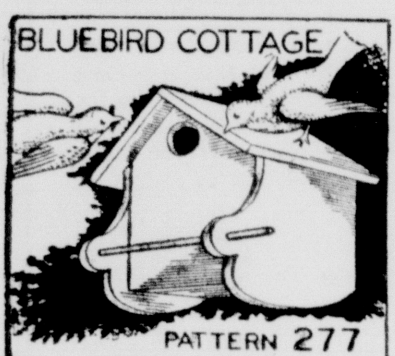

Paint, hardware and lumber dealers sell special plywood sealers that are most effective for subduing grain contrast. These products are practically a must when stain is used on fir plywood. Without them the soft darker portions of the grain act as a sponge and soak up more stain than the hard, lighter areas. Plywood sealers are available in flat white and clear.

Another type of finishing product that has been used with successful results on plywood is the one-coat, stain-wax finish in various colors. Stain-wax subdues grain contrast and is a finish in itself—no pre-sealer needed.

It's under finishes that allow varying degrees of grain "show-through" that fir plywood can really be given a personality of its own. Not naturally endowed with great beauty, it actually blooms when married to some of these.

For maximum grain show-through a light natural finish is suggested. First smooth the wood with No. 00 sandpaper, then apply wear sealer evenly. Sandpaper

PATTERN 277

This bluebird house is a perennial favorite both with us bird lovers who like to make them and the bluebirds that like to use them. The pattern also gives directions for a popular wren house. My husband and I have made many of these two styles and feel well repaid each spring when the songsters return. I think a great deal depends on where they are hung. Well up under the roof overhang at the gable ends of the house is the favorite place for house wrens. High in a tree standing apart in the orchard seems to be preferred by bluebirds. Pattern 277 with both designs will be mailed for 25c or will be included in the packet of bird house patterns for $1 post-paid.

HOMES FOR AMERICANS

ECONOMICAL but roomy, this compact two-bedroom house without a basement is designed for a small family and a small lot. The house covers only 870 square feet. when dry and apply a dull or gloss varnish.

A simple blond finish can be obtained in two steps. First thin an interior white undercoater or white sealer so that the grain shows through to your liking and apply it. Sand lightly when dry and apply clear shellac (thinner 50-50 with shellac thinner) or varnish. Steel-wool the finish for best effect.

A variation on this finish can be had by tinting the white undercoater or sealer with colors-in-oil. Or it can be varied further by painting on white or tinted undercoater or sealer, letting it set a few minutes, then wiping it into the pores of the wood with a clean rag. Sand lightly when dry, then apply a thin coating of shellac followed when dry by one coat of varnish.

Countless colors and shades can be obtained by varying the amount of thinning oils and turpentine (thinner) added to the color coat. Conventional stains in many colors and shades broaden the field of natural finishes for fir plywood. Remember, however, always to apply clear plywood sealer first to subdue contrast. Unless, of course, grain contrast is not undesirable to you.

New Nail Invented With Barbed Shank For Dry Wall Jobs

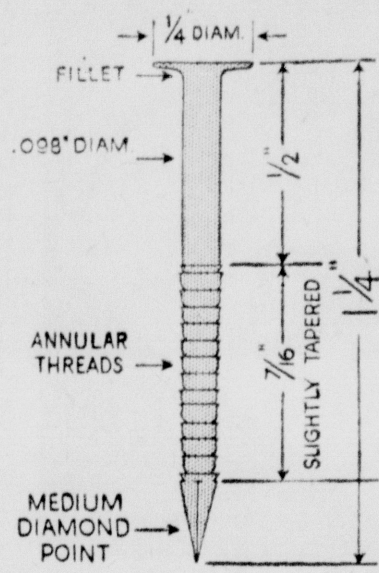

A NEW NAIL has been developed. Borrowing the idea of the fish hook, it has a barbed shank. It goes in easily enough but won't back up. Its primary purpose is to protect the appearances of dry wall construction, especially the type of wall using gypsum wallboard. But it also calls attention to the number of different nails now doing special jobs in home building.

You can no longer say "A nail is a nail is a nail." There are threaded nails and grooved nails, cement-coated nail and notched nails—each designed for increased holding power at such places as trussed rafters, hardwood flooring, plywood, hardboard underlayment, and so forth.

There are aluminum nails to prevent rust when exposed to the weather. Copper nails keep galvanic action from eating away copper flashing and roof gutters. And of course, the golden spike was in our history books.

This newcomer, however is called the annular-ringed nail—annular because the barb—like grooves run around the shank ring style. It illustrates much of the research that has been going on. It is the result of two years of tests made on the job with 24 different types of nails and culminates 20 years of engineering by nail manufacturers.

IF YOU EVER hammered on the

partition studs in one room and then found that nailheads had popped through wallpaper in the adjoining room—as this writer discovered—you can understand why several industries' faces have been red. To reset popped nails is not complicated, but to pay for a re-decorating job is something else. Then there has been the habit of nails just naturally creeping out. This happens when the lumber dries out and relaxes the friction depended upon to hold a nail.

This has concerned the wood-box and furniture-making industries as well as home builders.

The Gypsum Assn., comprising the leading manufacturers of gypsum wallboard panels, took this bull by the horns and sponsored extensive studies. Dr. E. George Stern of Virginia Polytechnic Institute had done much in his wood research laboratory by using helically threaded nails in place of bolts in building trussed rafters. So every type of nail was experimented with. Now Lloyd H. Yeager, general manager of the Gypsum Assn. is ready to announce the winning nail. His formal report for home builders will appear in a forthcoming issue of the Correlator, official publication of the National Assn. of Home Builders.

THIS NEW NAIL is 3/4 of an inch shorter than the commonly used 1 1/2-inch cement-coated nail. Its greater holding power permits it to be shorter and because it is shorter, axial movement or twisting with the shrinking and expansion of the wood, is reduced by 40 per cent. Yeager reports "that under repeated alternating cycles of high and low humidities, the fibers of framing lumber surrounding a nail shank could force the nail outward. The greater the penetration, the greater was the movement of the nailhead."

As for coated nails, it was found that the cement coating actually served as a lubricant and increased ed the amount of creep. So the new nail is bright and uncoated. One of the largest nail manufacturers (Independent of Bridgeport) observed that the new nail could be turned out by a number of producers and would sell for a very little more than coated nails—probably about $2.50 more for an average house. The rings are not machined, but are rolled into the shank with dies.

Stock Price Boom Is Firm One, Senate Committee Learns

WASHINGTON (AP)—The President of the New York Stock Exchange, G. Keith Funston, said the 18-month-old boom in stock prices rests on firm foundations and does not foreshadow any 1929-type crash. Funston was the first witness called by the Senate Banking Committee in a "friendly study" of the stock market.

Chairman Fulbright (D-Ark.), who applied the term "friendly" to the investigation, said the committee wants to find out if changing government and business policies "have influenced the present behavior of the stock market for good or ill."

The committee's senior Republican, Sen. Capehart of Indiana, spoke out in blunter language, declaring in an interview:

"My interest is to find out if there is any skulduggery or rigging of the market. I have no reason to believe there is, but I shall be watchful for facts or information to that end."

The inquiry opened with stock market prices already higher than in 1929 and still rising. The boom which began in September 1953 carried prices to the highest level in their history at the close of the New York exchange Wednesday.

The Associated Press averaged of 60 selected stocks rose to $162 yesterday, an increase for the day of $1.40.

Funston said in prepared testimony, however, that these prices

Postal Worker Raise Approved

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Post Office Committee has voted an average 7½ per cent increase for half a million post office employees at an annual cost of 150 million dollars.

The committee approved and sent to the House a bill providing a minimum increase of 6 per cent for all postal employees plus upward adjustments for those employed as carriers, drivers and clerks or about 60 per cent of the total force.

Chairman Murray (D-Tenn.) said the committee will begin hearings week after next on raises for some 1,200,000 civil service workers. He indicated the postal increase will set the pattern for increases among the other federal workers.

"I think we should give the same treatment to classified (civil service) government employees," he told newsmen, and added he favors minimum 6 per cent increases with higher starting salaries.

Recently Brown's wanted to know how much wood was stored in a section of the Androscoggin River, above Berlin. Lambert hit upon an idea. He borrowed a pair of skis, hooked one end of a light rope to his belt and started "skiing" across the log-packed river. Arriving at the other side, the rope was pulled back and measured to determine the exact width of the stream at a given point. The length of other sections also was measured. Then it was simple arithmetic to figure the quantity of wood. Now the Brown Co. is planning to design special skis for "log-hopping." (Exclusive NEA Photo)

Pilot Gets New Trial For Theft

GENEVA, Switzerland (AP)—Harold "Whitey" Dahl, American flier, was ordered released in bond of 20,000 francs ($4,600) pending a new trial on gold theft charges. Gold, worth $33,000, disappeared from a Swissair passenger plane Dahl was piloting from Paris to Geneva in October 1953.

Convicted in December, he was sentenced to two years in prison. Dahl's attorney contended before the Geneva court of appeals that Dahl should have been tried on a charge of abuse of confidence rather than theft. The attorney, Roger Canonica, contended the plane's cargo, including the gold, had been confided to the custody of Dahl as pilot of the plane. Dahl, he told the court Thursday, could not be tried for stealing something already in his possession. The court accepted this contention and the prosecution announced it would appeal.

In pleading for bail, Canonica said he was convinced Dahl would be acquitted when tried for abuse of confidence.

West's opening lead was the king of clubs, and if South had known that he was going to find a 4-1 trump break, he could have maneuvered as follows:

South ruffs a club, leads a trump to dummy, and ruffs the last club. Now a diamond is led toward the board. West cannot afford to go up with the ace, so the queen wins. Dummy then leads out the three remaining trumps, drawing East's, while declarer discards two diamonds. This leaves South with his original four spades and the diamond jack. West must hold four spades to stop the suit, and of course the diamond ace for his fifth card, so he cannot keep a club. East is out of the running. South leads a low diamond to the jack and it is all over—the spade queen is still an entry to dummy's good diamonds.

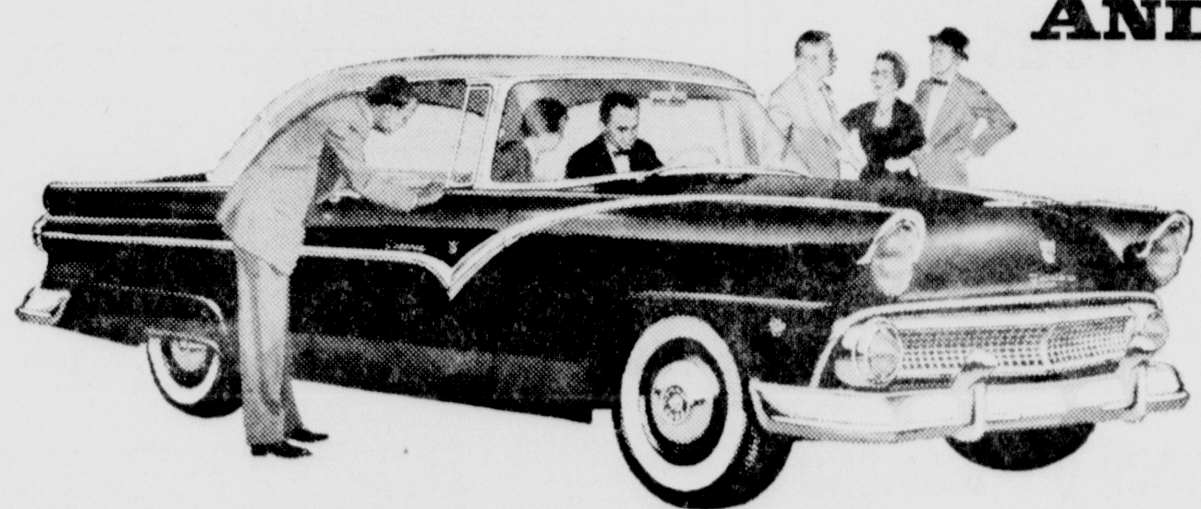

In the actual play, however, South could scarcely know about the trump break, so he drew two rounds of trumps, then ruffed a club, led a diamond to the queen, and ruffed the last club. Now, however, to get back to dummy safely, he had to use the spade queen, and though he could draw trumps, the squeeze was gone. South discarded a spade and a diamond on dummy's trump leads, and if West had been alert he would have kept only three spades, the diamond ace and a club. But West elected to hold all four of his spades, and when South simply knocked out the diamond ace, West was helpless.

Keeping Slim Will Be Easy If You Are Patient

Here's the last of a seven-day series to show you a star's road to the smart way to stay slim — by dieting BEFORE you get fat. The star is Academy Award Winner Donna Reed, whose newest picture is Paramount's "The Far Horizon." The expert calorie-counter who mapped out the diet to help you follow Miss Reed's family-style example is the Supervising Nutritionist of the New York City Health Department.

By DONNA REED
(Written for NEA Service)

Checking your weight constantly when you're on a diet can be discouraging.

You may see no change at all reflected on your bathroom scale for the first three weeks. This is because your body is adjusting itself to the new food intake.

I find it best to weigh just once a week when I'm dieting and to resist those daily checkups. They tend to discourage the dieter. Even when no change is indicated by the hand on the scale, change actually is going on.

Be patient about your dieting. You may feel that your clothes fit you loosely at a time when the scale doesn't show a change. This is the time to apply will power and refuse the easy way out: that dieting is nonsense and you really don't mind a few extra pounds anyway.

Remember, too, that there's a wide difference in scales. Therefore, be consistent about the scale you use. If you've a scale in your bathroom, use that.

And if you weigh fully dressed, always allow from two to three pounds additional for your clothes. This doesn't include a heavy coat.

Your Baby Before the knot is TIED

A recent news event (a batch of babies in a hospital nursery got skin trouble from the ink that was stamped on diapers) suggests that you do not mark baby's diapers with ink. The stamping that's put on by the manufacturer is safe, for they have special inks. If you wish to mark your diapers, take a sewing machine and run a row of stitching across a corner or down one side. Even after the bleach takes the color out, you'll still be able to find the sewing.

The miracle yarns might have been invented just for baby. Wool irritates the skin of many infants, yet these synthetic fibers seem to bother none. A sweater and cap of nylon or another miracle yarn is a boon that you can knit yourself for the winter. Easy to wash, won't get matted from frequent dousings.

Before Baby starts to walk, his shoes can be soft ones. They are needed only for protection, to keep his feet from being scratched by rough floors or ground. It is good for him to go barefoot when he walks, when the floor where he plays is clean and free from splinters, and the ground is free from rubbish, glass or other dangers. Exercising his foot muscles strengthens them.

Marion Allman, Mr. Peterson Wed At Dayton

Miss Marion Allman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Allman of Dayton, Ohio, became the bride of Al/c DeWayne Peterson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Peterson, 416 S. 12th St., in a double ring wedding ceremony Feb. 19 at St. Angus Catholic Church at Dayton.

Rev. Fr. Phoffer was celebrant of the 10:30 a. m. Nuptial Mass. The music of the Mass was sung by the student choir of St. Angus School.

Ballerina Gowns

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a ballerina length gown of nylon lace and net. The brocaded bodice of lace was set off by long tapering sleeves. She carried a colonial bouquet of white carnations.

Sister of the bride, Miss Jane Allman, acted as maid of honor. She wore a ballerina length gown of blue accented with pink, and carried a colonial bouquet of pink carnations.

Al/c Richard Morisset of Detroit was the best man. Ushering the guests to their seats was James Allman, the bride's brother.

Wedding Reception

Mrs. Allman attended her daughter's wedding attired in a dress of cocoa brown with beige accessories. Her corsage was fashioned of yellow carnations. The bridegroom's mother wore a gray suit with black and white accessories. Her shoulder corsage was red carnations.

Following the ceremony, a wedding dinner was served for the bridal party and immediate families at Levitt's Manor. In the afternoon, a reception was held at the home of Mrs. Wanda Truitt. Assisting in the serving were Miss Virginia Grandmontagne, Mrs. Lenore Falknor and Mrs. Truitt.

When the newlyweds left for their honeymoon trip to Washington, D. C., the bride wore a cocoa brown suit with matching accessories.

Wedding Guests

The bridegroom is stationed with the 2046th Squadron at Wright Patterson AFB, Ohio, while the new Mrs. Peterson is employed as secretary to the Air Force Museum Chief at the base. Out-of-town wedding guests were Mrs. Ruth Day of Canton, Ohio; Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Allman of New Philadelphia, Ohio; Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Peterson, Escanaba; Mark C. Sloan, Wright Patterson Field; Mr. and Mrs. Jarmagin and Al/c Robert Lee, both of Fairport, Ohio; Paul Berton of Fairborn, Ohio, and Mr. and Mrs. Blair Brown of Medway, Ohio.

Add half a teaspoon of dried crushed basil to a pint of very hot vinegar and pour into a bottle or jar. Cover tightly and allow to stand about 10 days, shaking the mixture each day. Then strain through cheesecloth and your herb vinegar will be ready to use in salads.

Miss Budinger Is The Bride Of Andre Quaghebeur

Miss Grace Harriet Budinger, daughter of Mrs. George Budinger of Cornell, became the bride of Andre Quaghebeur, Rock Rte. 1, in a 9 a. m. ceremony Feb. 19 at Holy Family Church in Flat Rock. Mr. and Mrs. Remi Quaghebeur of Provenc, Belgium, are the bridegroom's parents.

The Rev. Gerard LaMothe officiated at the double ring ceremony before an altar decorated with bouquets of spring flowers, snapdragons, daffodils and iris, in pastel shades. Mrs. Ernest Roberts sang the traditional bridal music and the hymn, "On This Day O Beautiful Mother."

Net Over Satin

The bride, given in marriage by her brother, George Budinger of Escanaba, wore a floor length gown styled with a bodice of chantilly lace and a full skirt of double layers of net over satin which extended into a cathedral train. The bodice was detailed with a sweetheart neckline, standing collar and long, pointed sleeves. Her veil of illusion, caught to a coronet, was fingertip length. She carried a cascade bouquet of white feathered carnations centered with delicate pink roses, and completed with white satin streamers. Her jewelry was a gold cross, gift of the bridegroom.

The bride's sisters, Miss Charlotte Budinger and Miss Donna Budinger, were her attendants. Charlotte, maid of honor, wore a strapless, floor length gown of shrimp net over satin with a matching jacket and Donna wore an identical costume in lime. They carried bouquets of yellow daffodils edged in maline matching their gowns.

Jerome Verbrugghe, cousin of the bridegroom, was best man and Francis Verbrugghe, another cousin, was groomsman.

Reception at Hall

Mrs. Budinger wore a grey suit with black accessories for her daughter's wedding and the bridegroom's aunt wore a green suit with black accessories. Red roses were in their corsages.

The reception for 250 guests was held at the Cornell Hall following a dinner for 40 guests. The table was decorated with ivory vases from the Orient, holding red rosebuds, and matching tapers. Mrs. Vincent Rouse, sister of the bride, and Mrs. Uno Anderson served the wedding cake. A dance followed in the evening at the Flat Rock Hall.

The newlyweds will live in Rock Rte. 1. The bride is a graduate of Escanaba Senior High School. Her husband attended school in Belgium.

Mrs. Melvin Patts of Cannelburg, Ind., Mr. and Mrs. Fred Thompson of Chicago, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Miron, Port Huron, and Miss Marcie Harrison and Miss Yvonne Gamache, Chicago, were among guests at the wedding.

Teen-Agers Need Beauty Sleep

By ALICIA HART

One mother of a household of kids says that she marks the turnover point between childhood and adolescence when a young person stops groaning at the prospect of a nap and hurries eagerly to the couch or bed, "simply bushed."

The irony to teen-agers is that when this time comes, there never seems to be enough time for sleep. There are so many busy, exciting things to do that sleep comes last.

For beauty's sake, sleep must not come last. New York models, who face their severest critics, the cameras, in the early morning and all day long, know that the loss of even an hour's sleep can turn their photographs into the reject pile because of wrinkles and puffy eyes.

Changes Whole Appearance

Lack of sleep can change your whole appearance as well as your outlook. If you've had enough sleep, your eyes sparkle, your skin looks smoother and clearer and your whole system hums as smoothly as a '55 car.

An old saw says that an hour's sleep before midnight is worth two after. This isn't exactly true, but it works out to be correct in most cases.

This is why: Most of us need eight hours sleep a day. Of this eight hours, the first two are spent by the body in "unwinding," according to sleep experts. The earlier this unwinding is done, the more time there is before that 7 o'clock alarm for sleeping.

Schedule Important

Of course, if you could sleep until 10 in the morning, midnight would mean nothing. But what teen-ager can?

Trying to catch up on the weekends by sleeping in makes many women groggy all day. They need a schedule to feel good.

It's the nightly investment of sleeping that keeps teen-agers bright for their school work or jobs and cheery on dates.

Boys Learn To Cook; Girls Learn Woodworking And They Enjoy It!

Seventh grade girls wielding a saw, finishing wood or wiring a socket and seventh grade boys setting tables or whipping up a meal are familiar sights at the Escanaba Junior High School these days.

Reason for the unusual scenes is a four weeks' period during which the seventh grade boys and girls exchange their industrial arts and home economics classes, under the instructions of Conrad Olson and Mrs. Elmer Swanson.

This exchange of classes among the students was decided upon by the entire faculty of the Escanaba Public Schools during the 1953-54 school years curriculum meetings. It is a program which will be carried out yearly with the possibility of including the eighth grade students.

A similar program was carried out in 1951, at which time, Erwin Wolff was seventh grade shop instructor. Mr. Wolff felt that the exchange was both practical and useful.

Learning To Cook

Mrs. Swanson, home economics instructor, has been teaching the boys the importance of being able to help around the home, good grooming and good eating habits. Cooking is the one subject which is foremost in their minds.

Various subjects which the boys are learning include the care of clothes, hanging clothes up, sewing buttons, washing socks, care of shoes, care of hands and nails and complexion, keeping their own rooms neat; baby sitting suggestions, and with foods, table setting and service, table manners, dishwashing, measuring, using recipes, balancing a breakfast and cooking.

The boys recently completed a project of balancing breakfast meals, preparing it and serving it. Their breakfasts consisted of fruit juice, eggs, toast, pancakes and syrup. The boys even prepared their own syrup. Also included in their cooking project is frosting ginger cookies and chocolate pudding.

The Boys Like It

Comments offered by the boys on this exchange program include:

"I like home economics very much because it has taught me many things. I did not set the table like that before. It has taught me how to wash dishes."

"It was fun to cook and work with the other boys."

"I like the pancakes best. When we can not eat meat, I can make pancakes for the family."

"I take the thoughts home to my mother."

"I think cooking was good because cooking comes in handy if you had to make your lunch. You could cook instead of making sandwiches."

"I think I got a lot out of home arts; most of all I liked the cooking. I wish we could have more than four weeks."

Making A Lamp

When the girls began their short course in industrial arts, a project had to be planned which would include certain basic operations. The project considered and selected for the course was a small pin-up lamp.

When they were selecting the project, the instructor and students had to consider the time allowed, experience of the students, age of the students, cost, availability of materials, student interest and amount of different steps involved in the construction. In the construction of a pin-up lamp, steps from selecting the material to the wiring of a socket and plug are learned.

During the course, the girls are not supposed to become woodworkers but are to achieve knowledge of some of the following: manual skills, good working habits, consumer knowledge, leisure time activities, basic understanding of the woodworking field, handling hand tools and techniques of finishing.

Seventh grade girls offered these comments, in regard to the exchange program:

"I liked the change."

"We should have more time in shop so we could broaden our knowledge in this field."

"I really enjoy making projects out of wood and learning how to use tools."

"It was fun; I liked the feeling of cooperation as we worked on our projects."

"I liked the freedom of movement."

Pleasant Experience

The students were not the only ones with opinions of the course; both Mrs. Swanson and Mr. Olson also gave their viewpoints.

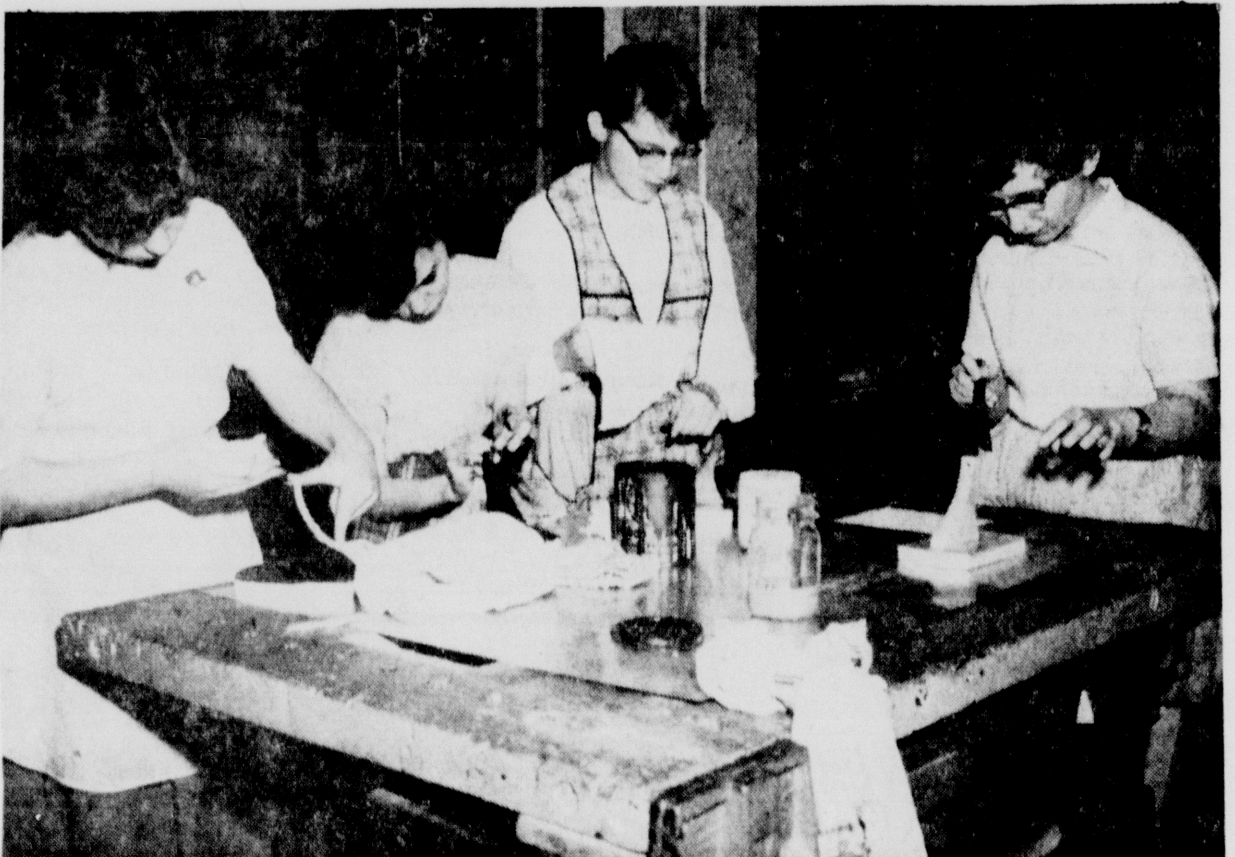

"It was a new and pleasant experience for me to work with boys in the homemaking department," Mrs. Elmer Swanson stated.

"Teaching boys this age is a challenge because they have such an abundance of energy and enthusiasm. There is never a dull moment."

Con Olson said, "The girls have done very well in the short time allowed, and they have shown a genuine interest in what had been demonstrated to them and in their project, which they earnestly worked on."

Highland Golfers Contribute Talents To Improve Facilities Of Their Club

By JAMES R. LOWELL

A town's golf course has come to be accepted by strangers passing along the way as a pretty good index of the town.

The rule, to be sure, is far from infallible, but it generally holds true that when one comes upon a course with gently undulating and neatly mowed fairways, closely cropped greens, and a spacious and restful club house, one may just about bank on the supposition that people who support it live in a town where the better things of life are appreciated — in other words, a good town.

Wayfarers along Highway U. S. 2-41 have made no mistake if they have sized up Highland Golf Course and Escanaba that way. The club, seven miles west of the city, maintains a beautiful and unusually well patronized course and its club facilities, while imposing, are much more than meets the casual glance.

Commendable Thrift

Yes, Highland Golf Course speaks well for Escanaba. It may be regarded without question as an index of progress and prosperity. But there is another characteristic of the membership that has a bearing on the club's progressiveness. The members are thrifty. Why not? Golf is a Scotch game.

But the thrift practiced is not penurious. It is of the common sense type. The kind that Benjamin Franklin liked to extol. The members believe in the maximum: "If you want a thing well done, do it yourself." When they want some improvement made on the course or the club house they pitch in and do it.

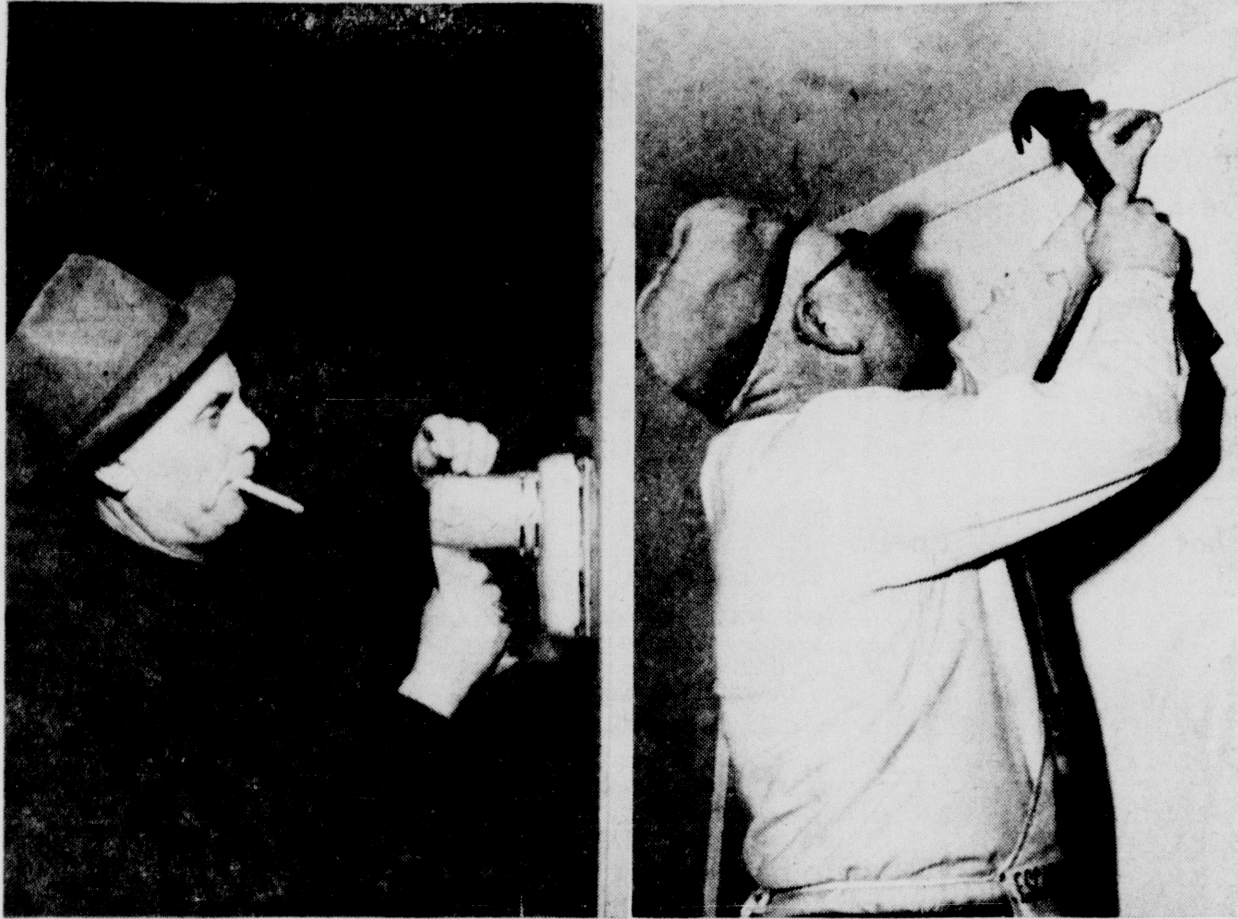

One of the main improvements — a major one at that — now underway is an imposing addition to the club house. For the past several months, during the season when activities at the course are dormant, there have been workbees in which large numbers of the membership participate.

Do Carpenter Work

The project is a sizeable one, involving among other things, two new locker rooms, enlargement of the club room proper and refinishing and rearrangement of other rooms. The locker rooms (one for men and the other for women) will be 16x24 feet in size. The club room proper will be enlarged by 16 feet in length.

Professional carpenters and bricklayers, started the building putting up the framework, but the operations from there on have been performed by the members themselves. In addition to the new portions being constructed there will be new ceiling in the club room, matched paneling on the walls and matched hardwood flooring.

The walls will be stained in natural finish to impart a light and cheerful tone to the room. While furnishing and fixtures will remain much the same as before, additions will be made to the number of tables and chairs, facilities in the recent past have at times been severely taxed.

Three Bees A Week

Work bees have been held all winter on Tuesdays, Saturdays and Sundays — sometimes often. The builders are strictly amateurs, but to class them as "jack-knife carpenters," would perhaps be unfair. Some of them, some time in their careers, have done a bit of building. One or two have done carpenter work. Some took up manual training in high school. Others admit that they are confirmed "do it yourself" addicts. At any rate there are very few hammered fingers in evidence.

In everyday life they are doctors, lawyers, bankers, merchants, dentists, bookkeepers, printers, tavern operators, insurance men, church men, manufacturers and farmers. They offer no apology for their work and, most certainly, none is needed.

Ready In May

The improvements, barring any unforeseen delays, will be completed in about another month and everything should be in readiness

when the season opens early in May.

The golf club, which now has a membership of 185, had its start in 1929, when the 80-acre tract, that comprises the present course, was purchased. Very little was done to the land at the outset except clearing of brush that blocked the fairways in a few places. Sand was used to keep the greens under control.

The first club house, a modest 30x24 structure, was built in 1936. This was done by a carpenter assisted by volunteer labor recruited from the membership.

In its beginning, what the course lacked in modern facilities and landscaping, was well compensated for by the gently rolling lay of the land and a few natural hazards such as a sand trap, a meandering stream at the north end of the course, a few steep slopes and brushland.

Improvements Gradual

Under judicious management its popularity was maintained during a period trying to any enterprise based on pure amusement. The course became increasingly popular and improvements followed. Changes, however, came gradually, never upsetting the smoothly operating order of things. In 1939 the west wing was built onto the club house. In 1940 grass greens supplanted the sand ones. An east wing was built to the club house in 1942 and the south wing in 1950. Minor improvements, such as shelters at vantage points, straightening of the stream to prevent flooding and smoothing off rough spots on the fairways, came from time to time.

A landscape program is the next major item on the agenda.

The bar, employing two tenders, is situated at the south end of the club house. From this room, guests have an unobstructed view of practically the entire course.

Meals served in the main club room, are prepared in a strictly modern kitchen employing two cooks and an adequate number of waiters.

While golf is pretty much a summer pastime, ample provision for heating the building in chilly and inclement weather is made in an overhead heating system employing two bottle gas furnaces.

As mentioned before, the club's membership is listed as 185. This tells but a minor part of story. Members not only afford club facilities to the card holder, but to members of his family as well. As a result, the club, during the season, is almost daily the scene of group gathering where not only golf, but cards and dancing are a part of the social activity.

Visitors Welcome

Hazen Hengesh, president of the club, states that efforts are being made to make the course better known and more popular with visitors to Escanaba. Out of town guests who have golfed there have commented very favorably upon the facilities, the courtesies extended and the reasonable fees charged them.

"We members are proud of our course and some of the guests who are in a position to know, tell us that there's not a better course in all Upper Michigan," says Hengesh.

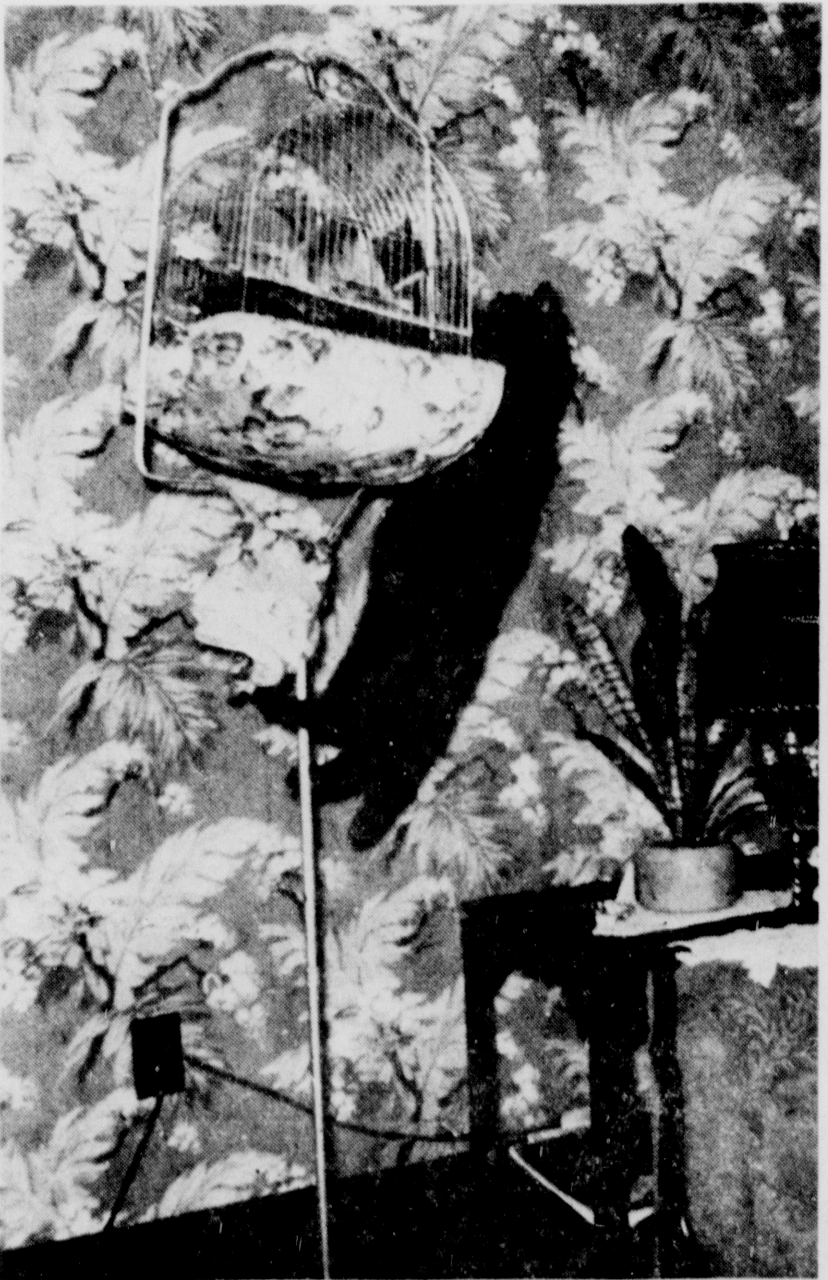

The original officers of the club were: Gilbert Cotton, president; John A. Lemmer, vice president; Wm. Warming, treasurer; Albert Cyr, secretary; Charles Gunderson, R. A. Chynoweth, Art Arntson, John Manning and Torvald Strom, directors.

The current staff consists of Hazen Hengesh, president; Ben Douglas, vice president; Einar Back, secretary-treasurer; Earl Brown, Grover, Lewis, George Walter, Carl E. Johnson, Oliver Christensen and Merten Jensen, directors.

Some idea of the growth and activity of the club in its years of activity may be gleaned from the difference in the cost of maintenance in 1936 and the cost during the last fiscal year. The cost in 1936 was $1,500. Last season it was $6,000.

Originally torpedo tubes on Navy destroyers were mounted in the bow. Now they are mounted in a battery which can be trained so that the whole ship need not be turned toward the target.

Buckeyes Barely Hang On To Swimming Lead

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio State is hanging on to its Western Conference swimming championship by its fingernails today at the half-way mark in the 45th annual meet.

Michigan's Wolverines, with four victories in the first seven events—including a world record-shattering performance—were only a point behind, 57 to 58, as the natators went into today's final seven tests.

No one else was close as the two goiliaths battled it out. Iowa had 20 points, Michigan State 17, Purdue 11, Indiana 6, Wisconsin 4 and Illinois 3, with Minnesota and Northwestern shut out.

Jack Wardrop, one of the Wolverine tins from Motherswell, Scotland, and Jim Walters of Kenilworth, Ill., came up with Friday night's startling performances.

Wardrop wheeled through the 220-yard freestyle in 2:03.4 to shear 1.3 seconds off the world record set a year ago by Ford Konno.

Ohio State's Hawaiian star, who finished second in 2:05, or 1.03 seconds under his Big Ten record.

Walters piled up 322.25 points to win the one-meter diving event as Morley Shapiro, Ohio's defending champion, finished third behind teammate Fletcher Gilders. It was the first time since 1944 that Ohio State had lost a Big Ten springboard event, and was only the

Hasty House Farms Entries Favorites

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—The Hasty House Farms entry of Sea O Erin and Mister Black gained late support for the $50,000-added New Orleans handicap and was expected to share the favorite's role with the stretch-charging Spur On by post time today.

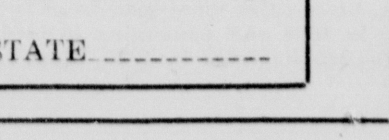

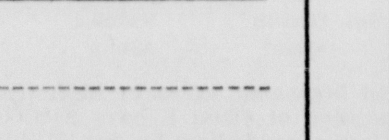

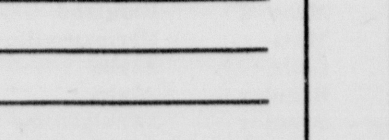

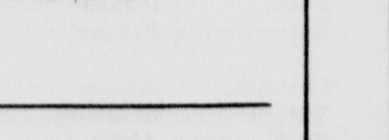

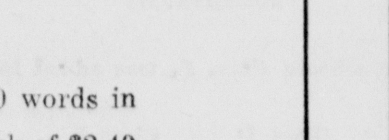

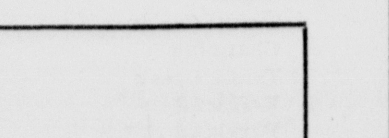

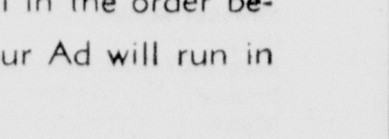

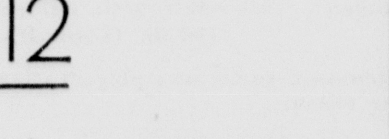

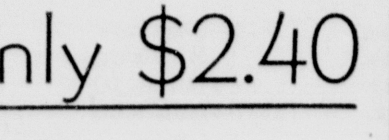

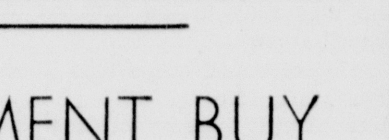

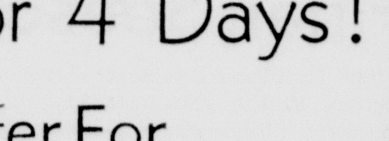

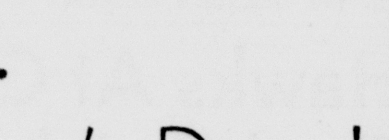

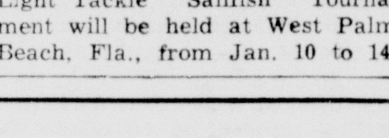

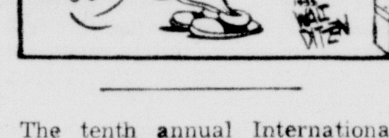

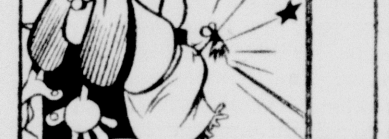

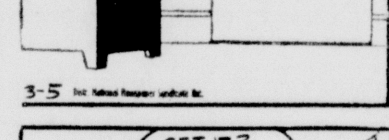

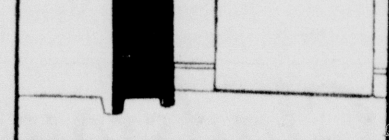

The Hasty House pair arrived from Florida Wednesday when their more celebrated stablemate, Hasty Road, was withdrawn.

Only ten of the original 29 nominations were scheduled to accept the starter's call. The race will gross $62,900 with the winner's share $44,300.

Grid Television Pot Simmering

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP)—The NCAA football television pot was still simmering today.

Doug Mills, Illinois athletic director and member of the NCAA television committee, Friday revealed that he had "objected all the way through" to the program being mapped by the group.

The disclosure brought speculation that this stand by Mills, the Big Ten representative on the committee, may have had some effect in forcing the NCAA to abandon plans to announce its 1955 program this week and schedule another committee meeting in New York Monday and Tuesday.

The Big Ten was understood to have objected to a provision in the NCAA's tentative plan that limited a team to only one television appearance during the 1955 season. The conference insists that a team be able to make two appearances, once at home and once away.

Robinson, former middleweight and welterweight champion, is at the crossroads in his comeback attempt in this no-television, no-radio bout.

After a 31-month layoff that followed his decision to quit the ring, Sugar Ray knocked out Joe Rindone at Detroit but a month later dropped a one-sided decision to Ralph (Tiger) Jones.

Small, a veteran of 57 bouts, has been out for two years due to a nose injury. He's never been knocked out and has fought Kid Gavilan, Pierre Langlois and Joey Giardello.

Sunshine Nell, J. J. Kaplan's handicap mare, will be sent to stud and mated with Count Fleet in 1955.

U. P. Hockey Teams Seek State Titles

DETROIT — The fourth annual Michigan Amateur Hockey Association championships will be decided at Olympia Stadium here Sunday, March 6.

The championships in all four age classes will be determined in a single afternoon's play. The four games will be interlocked in a quadrupleheader starting at 1 p. m.

Playdowns involving more than 100 teams in the four age classes have been conducted throughout the state with a finalist each from the Lower and Upper Peninsulas being selected to compete for the championships. The Upper Peninsula playoffs were completed last weekend, while the Lower Peninsula representatives will remain undetermined until Saturday.

Two of last season's U. P. finalists repeated. They are the Sault Sainte Marie Mohawks in the Senior Class and the East Houghton Peevees. The other two Upper Peninsula teams will be the Houghton Thunderbirds in the Juvenile Class and the Sault I. B. C. team in the Junior division.

Remaining in competition in the Lower Peninsula are Rose Truck of Detroit and Ann Arbor in the Peevee class; Detroit Arrowsmith and Ann Arbor in the Juvenile division; Detroit Gage Olds and Ann Arbor in the Junior section; and Detroit Bessy Aving and Redford Township in the Senior class.

Only one defending champion, the Senior Sault Mohawks, will be returning.

STEEPKKE SCORES—Jerry Steppke, Menominee Maroon forward whose deadly set shots from outside killed the Holy Name Crusaders early in the game, changes his tactics as he scores on a layup after eluding a Holy Name pressing defense. The Maroons won the district Class B contest 76-58 and will meet Stephenson in the championship game at 8:15 tonight. (Daily Press Photo)

Holy Name Bows To Maroons 76 To 58

The Menominee Maroons stunned the Holy Name Crusaders, 76-58, here last night to gain the finals of the Class B district basketball tournament against Stephenson. The title game at the Holy Name gym will begin at 8:15 tonight.

Menominee joined the host Crusaders with a haymaker late in the first period and Coach Tom St. Germain's inexperienced cagers never recovered.

Things were going good for Holy Name in the first period and the Crusaders gradually built up an 18-12 lead over the tall Menominee team. But suddenly the tide changed and Menominee took complete command of the game.

Withering Attack

With a minute and 40 seconds left in the period, Menominee went on a 17-point bucket binge while Holy Name went scoreless. The half ended with Menominee leading 29-18.

From that point on the Maroons continued to spread their margin. Early in the second frame they built it to 37-20 and at the half they led 42-28.

The Crusaders tried to fight back in the early minutes of the third period and narrowed their deficit to 14 points but the Maroons soon found the range again and took a 21-point lead entering the final quarter of the game.

Senior guard Jim Greenwood of Holy Name spurred for 11 points in the final period but the outcome was never in doubt.

Menominee was paced by a deadeye forward, Jerry Steppke, who plunked in 10 field goals and three free throws for 23 points. Dick Nielsen, lanky pivotman, hit 20 and set a new single season scoring record for the Maroons with 297 points. John Moerchen held the old school mark.

Berrigan Scores 19

For the Crusaders, John Berrigan was tightly bottled in the center slot but came through with eight goals and three free throws for 19 points. Greenwood had 16 and Denis McGinn 10 to lead Holy Name.

Berrigan closed his junior year with 427 points in 17 games for an average of 26.24 per start. Last night was the first time this season Berrigan failed to hit at least 22 points in any Holy Name game.

The scoring output was also the second lowest of the campaign for the Crusaders.

For Menominee it was the eighth straight victory after a so-so start this season. The Maroons shot equally well from the field and the free throw line, outscoring Holy Name by 32-22 in goals and hitting 12 of 21 from the charity line. In the first half they made 10 and missed only 3.

Henriksen Fouls Out

It appeared early in the game as though personal fouls would handicap the Maroons. Nielsen drew his third personal foul two minutes remaining in the first period but never added to his total in the remainder of the game. No Maroon had more than three personals in the contest.

Holy Name lost the services of forward Arnold Henriksen with a half-minute left in the final period.

The early tournament loss is something new for Escanaba Parochial school cage fans. St. Joe, the former Catholic high school, was a strong tournament contender in Class C in recent years.

Box score:

Holy Name	FG	FT	PF	TP
McGinn (T)	4	2	1	10
Henriksen	3	2	5	8

Sport Shorties

Otto Graham was the first player signed by Paul Brown when he organized his first professional football team in 1946.

Only two players have been.

The 1955 American Bowling Congress tournament at Port Wayne (March 26-June 4) is the first ABC tourney for Indiana since the 1936 event at Indianapolis.

Pitcher Gene Conley is the tallest and heaviest player on the Milwaukee roster. He is 6 feet 8 inches and weighs 225.

Michigan hunters and trappers were paid $67,200 during 1954 as bounties on 3,715 coyotes, 23 wolves and 626 bobcats, reports the state conservation department.

Before today's round the 140-plus field was trimmed to 100, the 90 low pros and 10 low amateurs. The cutoff point for pros was 148 with amateurs above 149 dropped.

Friday's second round saw most of the leaders balloon up from their subpar opening rounds, despite continued perfect golf weather, warm and clear.

The biggest blow-up came when Walter Romans of Baltimore, first day leader with a seven-under-par 65, soared to 75 for a 140 total.

Paul McGuire of Wichita, Kas., fired a 70 after his first round 66 for a 136 total.

Two strokes back of McGuire were Art Wall of Pocono Manor, Pa., and Bud Holscher of Apple Valley, Calif.

Bunched at 139 were Peter Thomson of Melbourne, Australia, Jackie Burke Jr. of Kiamasha Lake, N. Y., Fred Wampler of Indianapolis, Ind.; Ed Furgol of St. Louis, Mo.; Billy Maxwell of Odessa, Tex.; Dow Finsterwald of Athens, Ohio; and Johnny Pott, a Louisiana State University student who added a 69 to his opening 70 to lead the amateurs.

Nine strokes off the lead at 143 was Mike Souhak of Durham, N.C. Bob Toki of Livingston, N. J., last year's winner here, apparently dropped out of contention with a 144 total.

St. Anne's Wins In Tournament Opener

St. Anne's grade school cagers notched a 34-18 victory over St. Anthony's of Peshtigo in the Lourdes Invitational Parochial school tournament yesterday.

St. Anne's returns to tournament action at Marinette at 2 p. m. today.

In This Corner

With Ray Crandall

The first major league baseball team to announce plans for a training school and tryout camp in the Upper Peninsula is the Boston Red Sox. The tryout camp, open to boys 14 to 22, will be under the direction of Scout Maurice DeLoof, and will be held in Iron River June 17, 18 and 19. It is the first such camp sponsored by the Red Sox in this area.

Escanaba has been invited to act as host to the Upper Peninsula finals meet in track and field this spring. The finals will bring together qualifiers from regional meets in various sites through the Peninsula—in Classes B, C and D-E. Date of the finals has been set for May 21.

The annual Upper Peninsula coaching school at Marquette Northern Michigan College will have outstanding instructors again this year. Forest Evashevski, head coach at the University of Iowa, will instruct coaches in football; Don Canham, track coach at the University of Michigan, will lead track discussions, and Fordy Anderson, Michigan State cage coach, will have charge of instructions in that sport. The coaching clinic will be held Aug. 4, 5 and 6.

The Green Bay Packers this year will play three of their home games in Green Bay and three in Milwaukee—as has been the practice for the past three seasons. The games to be played in Green Bay are against Detroit, Sept. 25; Chicago Bears, Oct. 2, and Chicago Cardinals, Nov. 13. In Milwaukee the Packers will play Baltimore, Oct. 9; Los Angeles, Oct. 16, and San Francisco, Nov. 20.

Gladstone Rally Fails As Crystal Falls Wins 72-67

CRYSTAL FALLS—The Gladstone Braves staged a stirring rally in the second half here last night but it fell short and Coach Eldon Keil's cagers were tripped 72-67 in the Class C district tournament opener.

Crystal Falls will meet Stambaugh, winner over Marquette Baraga by a 60-56 margin, in the finals tonight.

The host Trojans jumped off to a 19-6 lead in the first period and stretched it to 39-22 at the half.

Miller Sparks Rally

Reserve guard J. C. Miller sparked a third period rally that narrowed the wide gap to eight points, 56-48, entering the final period. The Braves continued to threaten Crystal Falls and pulled up to within one-point of the faltering Trojans with three minutes remaining in the game, but couldn't maintain the tremendous pace and fell off in the closing minutes.

Gladstone was unable to hit from the outside early in the game and Crystal Falls pulled down the majority of the rebounds. At one point in the second period Crystal Falls boasted a 20-point margin.

Miller pumped in 10 points to lead the Gladstone comeback in the third period in which the Braves outscored Crystal Falls 27-17.

Quinn Hits 20

Big John Quinn set Gladstone's scoring pace with 20 points while Miller followed closely with 18. Larry Feldt, who with Quinn kept the Braves from falling completely out of contention in the first half, scored an even dozen.

Crystal Falls was led by 6-6 Glen Westin, slender pivotman, who hit for 21 points. Sam Karnack contributed 14 and Terry Davidson 12.

Crystal Falls outscored Gladstone by three field goals and hit 16 of 25 gift shots. The Braves connected on 17 of 27.

Dodgers, Giants In Early Quarrel

The Associated Press

Proving that distance is no barrier when old bosom buddies feel like exchanging a few pleasantries, the Dodgers and Giants have hooked up in a transcontinental "lovers' quarrel" to enliven the spring training air.

Giant Manager Leo Durocher, as you might expect, touched off the spat. After all, it's spring training for him too.

"Brooklyn's in trouble if (Jackie) Robinson, (Pee Wee) Reese or (Roy) Campanella don't play," Leo cooed from the world champion's training site in Phoenix, Ariz.

Irked, Dodger Vice-President Buzzy Bavasi and Fresno Thompson—with a surprising assist from silent Walt Alston—hurled a cross-country love note back into Leo's ear from their Vero Beach, Fla., camp.

Summed up, their sentiments read something like this: "The Giant bench is lousy, one of the louiest in baseball. Dusty Rhodes is all they got. We can go blindfolded among our second-string outfielders and pick better ones than they have."

Duke Snider and the Dodger batboy also got into the act. Snider, peeved at comparisons between Willie Mays and himself, announced that until wondrous Willie passes him in the income tax bracket, he'll consider himself the better ballplayer.

The bat boy, Charlie Digiovanna, added a Durocher jibe as a footnote. "It looks like skinhead has his mouth in shape for the season already."

Hawks At Calumet In Final Season Clash

The Escanaba Hawks will write an end to the regular season in Northern Michigan - Ontario Hockey League play in a critical game at Calumet tonight.

The Hawks are firmly entrenched in second place in the final standings but the outcome of tonight's game will determine who they play in the first set of playoff games.

Calumet could move into a tie with Marquette for the fourth place playoff spot by beating the Hawks tonight. Each team would have 18 points in the standings.

9—Rock vs. Powers.

ROCK—The fabulous shooting Rapid River Rockets fell by the wayside in the Class D district tournament semifinals here last night when they bowed to a smooth Powers-Spalding quint, 63-52.

In the other Class D semifinal game the Rock Little Giants withstood a determined final-period rally by Vulcan to win 54-53. In Class E Nahma won with ease, 66-38, over Daggett to move into tonight's championship game against Perkins.

Coach Marve Ropele's Powers Tigers led all the way against Coach Roger Carlson's Rockets who have averaged over 77 points a game this season. The Tigers jumped off to a 15-10 lead in the first period, stretched it to 33-21 at the half and then boosted it to 63-34 going into the final period.

Rapid threatened mildly in the fourth quarter but couldn't overcome the 19-point deficit.

Sargent, Berg Star

The Rockets were extremely cold from the free throw line in the first half, hitting on only three of 14 gift attempts. The Rapid River cagers were equally ineffective from the field, in comparison to their usual deadly accuracy.

The two tall Powers forwards, Jim Sargent and Bill Berg, set the scoring pace with 24 and 15 points while guard Ben O'Neil came through with 10. Jim Johnson and Bob Olson hit 11 each to lead Rapid River.

Rock led throughout the game against Vulcan but it was mighty uncomfortable for the Little Giants late in the contest. Coach Bob Pelkie's cagers took a 15-9 lead in the first period and built it up to 35-19 at the half.

Vulcan pared it to 41-31 entering the final period and then spurred for a 22-13 edge in the last quarter to make it close.

Hade Scores 25

Ralph Anderson, Rock forward, hit a field goal with 12 seconds remaining to give the Little Giants a 54-51 lead and Vulcan's Dave Valerio scored with three seconds on the clock to narrow the final score to 54-53.

Tall Terry Hade found the pivot slot pretty well plugged up but shook loose for a dozen field goals. He had only two opportunities from the freethrow line and made one of them. Guard Jack Lund followed him in the Rock scoring department with 10.

Jim LaPine and Valerio led Vulcan with 19 and 20 points on the scoreboard.

Rock lost the services of Duane Vandebusch with 3:36 remaining in the game. The Little Giants held a 48-37 lead at that point.

Newhouse Leads Nahma

Nahma's Bernard Newhouse hit for 20 points and Elmer Seymour canned 14 in the win over Daggett. Coach Harold Anderson again used 10 players and all of them scored.

The Arrows led 21-6 at the end of the first period and 35-10 at halftime.

The Powers victory over Rapid River reversed two regular season scores in which the Rockets edged Powers by one and two points.

For Rock it was the 17th win against one defeat this season.

Cold Emeralds Beaten By Hot Munising Team

SAULT STE. MARIE—The Manistique Emeralds suffered one of their coldest nights of the season and the Munising Mustangs enjoyed one of their hottest in the Class B district semifinals here last night. Munising won by a 71-57 margin.

Coach Rudie Brandstrom's cagers couldn't seem to find the basket as they plunked away with monotonous regularity but failed to score. They fired an amazing 93 shots at the rim but hit on only 22 of them.

Munising on the other hand fired seldom but with accuracy. The Mustangs let fly with 53 shots and caged 24 of them.

The Mustangs, who will go against the host Soo Blue Devils for the district title tonight at 9, grabbed an 18-9 lead in the first period and never let up. Another big spurt in the third period put Manistique out in front by 58-40 entering the last quarter.

Frank Hamilla was again the trigger for the Munising attack, scoring 25 points for top honors in that department. He hit seven field goals and 11 gift tosses. He made his first 10 shots from the foul line Maki, Simonen, and Matson were also in couple figures for the Mustangs.

Manistique was paced by guard Ed Bernier with 18 points. Bernier was handicapped with four fouls before the half, however. Reserve guard Don Anderson came through with 15 points and center Bob Hastings chipped in 14.

Detroit Class D Team Sets Scoring Record

By JOE FALLS
Detroit All Saints, old hands at running up astronomical scores, set an all-time state tournament scoring record Friday night by walloping St. Agnes, 124-19.

Although coach Dick Davis said he "tried to hold down the score," his relentless shotmakers dealt inept St. Agnes the worst defeat in the 30-year history of the tournament.

The All-Saints' point total topped the previous high set last year by Whittemore, which crushed Winegars, 116-13.

Used 13 Players
"I played all 13 of my players to try to hold down the score," Davis explained. "But it was only game this week and I guess the boys were eager."

Three All Saints players topped the 20-point mark. Larry Anderson hit 29, while Don Dippel and Bob Butka connected for 23 apiece.

It was the third straight year All Saints (Class D) passed the 100-point mark in tournament play. Last March they pummeled Boys Republic 110-12, and in 1953 they ran up a 104-31 count against the same school.

This wasn't the only odd game on Friday's heavy schedule. In the Class C district at Jackson, East Jackson took a 2-0 lead against Jackson St. Mary—and then St. Mary scored 45 points in a row.

45 Straight Points
Needless to say, St. Mary won the game by a 59-11 score to hand East Jackson its 16th loss without a win this season.

It wasn't until the final 26 seconds of the third quarter that East Jackson was able to score its first field goal.

Training Camp Briefs

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—Manager Marty Marion of the Chicago White Sox has cracked down on Jim Riffe and ordered the speedy outfielder to shed weight but quick.

"He weighs 204 and I've ordered him down to at least 195," said Marion. "And I don't mean by the opening of the season. I want those nice pounds off in two weeks."

MEZA, Ariz. (AP)—Chicago Cub manager Stan Hack says he is impressed with the showing of veteran pitchers Bob Rush and Howie Pollet.

Rush is off to a good start by virtue of beginning conditioning several days before the opening of spring training. And Pollet, Hack said, is far ahead of 1954 on his progress chart.

BRADENTON, Fla. (AP)—Roy Crone, a top pitching prospect of the Milwaukee Braves, came down with a sore arm Friday to inject one of the first blue notes into the spring training camp.

Dr. Charles Lacks, the club trainer, diagnosed the trouble as "inflammation of the shoulder" and advised the 23-year-old Crone to take it easy for the next few days.

Manager Charlie Grimm said he will employ as close as possible what looks to be his best starting lineup of infielders and outfielders in the intrasquad game Sunday.

The team will have Bobby Thomson, Bill Bruton, Andy Pafko in the outfield, Del Crandall catching and Joe Adcock, Danny O'Connell, Johnny Logan and Eddie Mathews around the infield.

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP)—Now it turns out that Harvey Kuenn is superstitious after all.

Following his brilliant rookie season, the shortstop of the Detroit Tigers was asked if he field goals by Ken Hendrickson in the final seven seconds.

In Class B, Flint St. Michael now 17-0 trimmed Flint Kearsley, 61-44, as Jerry McCarty poured in 33 points—23 of them in the second half, and Inkster made it 16-0 with an 83-37 romp over Dearborn Sacred Heart.

In Class D, Copemish defeated Glen Arbor, 74-40, for its 19th win without a loss.

Graham Loses Split Verdict

NEW YORK (AP)—One by one the oldtimers faded away. Sugar Ray Robinson, Kid Gavilan, Paddy DeMarco, Roland LaStarza and now Billy Graham.

None will admit he is through. It was the years—14 long ones in the ring and 125 fights—more than Chico Vejar which caused Graham's downfall in Madison Square Garden Friday night.

True, the 32-year-old New Yorker lost only by a split decision and the three officials had it close. But it was the way he lost it more than the tight score that will be remembered by most of the 4,804 fans who paid $15.246 for the 10-round.

Judges Jack Gordon, 5-4-1 and Bert Grant, 6-4 voted for Vejar. Referee Al Berli had it 5-4-1 for Graham. The AP card had Vejar ahead 6-3-1.

"I was rusty after that long layoff (He hadn't fought since October) and I missed a lot of chances because of my inactivity," said Graham. "I don't think I lost it, though. I just can't seem to get the close ones. I thought I threw the harder punches."

"I'd like to fight him again," added Billy.

Nationals Take Eastern Crown

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The Syracuse Nationals were in today as champions of the eastern division of the National Basketball Assn. and the Fort Wayne Pistons could wrap up the western title over the weekend.

The Nats, who tied for second last year, clinched the title Friday night by beating the Milwaukee Hawks 99-96 while the Boston Celtics were dropping a 121-106 decision to the Minneapolis Lakers.

The Celtics' defeat dropped them to third place back of the New York Knicks, who edged Rochester 95-92.

The Lakers' victory left them with a mathematical chance to tie the Pistons, but a defeat by Rochester in today's TV game (NBC) would decide the issue. The same holds true Sunday when the Lakers meet Milwaukee at home and Fort Wayne plays the Celtics at Boston.

Free throws in the final period by Johnny Kerr, who paced the Nats with 26 points, and Earl Lloyd gave Syracuse its title-winning victory.

Illinois Dashman Sets New 300-Yard Record

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP)—Ralph Fessenden of Illinois was the early sensation in the preliminaries of the Big Ten indoor track meet, going into finals this afternoon at Michigan State College.

Fessenden twice lowered the conference 300-yard run record in preliminaries Friday night — a feat more remarkable because the runners generally take it easy in the opening session.

The Big Ten 440-yard champ did the 300 in a fast 31.3 seconds in a preliminary heat and then battered his new conference record in a faster 30.8 in the finals.

The former conference mark was 31.5 set jointly last year by Tom Hughes of Purdue, Joe Corley of

Duke Earns Bid To NCAA's Championship Cage Tourney

By ED WILKS
The Associated Press

There's still a little matter of settling the Atlantic Coast Conference basketball championship tonight, but beyond that—and what-ever the outcome—Duke's Blue Devils are off for their first NCAA title appearance in Madison Square Garden Tuesday.

The Blue Devils' picked up the conference colors Friday night by outlasting Virginia 90-77 in overtime of a semifinal game in the ACC tournament at Raleigh, N.C.

Face Defending Champ
Duke has to face North Carolina State, the defending champ and 5th ranked in The Associated Press poll, in the final tonight. A victory would send the Blue Devils against Villanova in the NCAA first round tripleheader next week under their power. But Duke will get the bid even as a runnerup since NCS is ineligible because of probationary action by the NCAA.

In other action, West Virginia and George Washington qualified for tonight's title final to decide the Southern conference NCAA representative while Oregon State, the northern division champ, gained a leg in the best-of-three Pacific Coast playoff by beating UCLA, the southern division winner, 82-75.

At Least Tie
And Texas Tech gained at least a tie for the Border Conference title and NCAA slot by beating New Mexico A & M 87-58. Tech could gain a clear claim to the championship tonight by defeating Texas Western, West Texas State (9-3) already has finished its season and could gain a share of the title should Tech lose.

The Southeastern, Missouri Valley, Big Ten and Ivy League conferences also could pin an official blue ribbon on their NCAA representatives tonight. Kentucky can take the SEC title by beating Tennessee, Penn can sweep the Ivy and avert a possible three-way tie by beating Princeton and St. Louis or Tulsa could win the Mo-Valley if the other loses.

St. Louis plays Oklahoma A&M and Tulsa meets Wichita. A tie would call for a one-game playoff with the runnerup going to the NIT.

Idle Until Monday
Iowa can claim the Big Ten crown if Minnesota loses to Wisconsin. The Hawkeyes are idle until Monday, when they could win regardless by beating Michigan.

Kell Is Confident Of .300 Batting Average

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—George Kell, looking forward to his first full year with the Chicago White Sox, says: "I know I can hit .300."

The 32-year-old Kell spoke with the authority of a man who owns a lifetime average of .309, third best among active players in the American League. "I know I can hit this ball club, and it's a good ball club, capable of being right in there with Cleveland and New York."

"I don't think Cleveland can win any 111 games again. They all played up to their full potential last year."

It was interesting to hear the veteran third baseman talk about Detroit and Boston, the two clubs he played with between the time he left Philadelphia in 1946 until the Red Sox traded him to Chicago last May.

Gophers To Face Badgers Tonight

CHICAGO (AP)—Minnesota, still hoping for a share of the Big Ten basketball title, meets Wisconsin tonight while Michigan State and Michigan tangle in a nationally televised game today.

The Gophers, riding for their first title in 18 years, were defeated Monday by Iowa's Hawkeyes.

Minnesota can still win. If the Gophers beat Wisconsin tonight and Iowa loses to Michigan, Iowa and Minnesota will finish in a first place tie.

Should Wisconsin upset Minnesota the race will be over.

Michigan State and Michigan offer an interesting television battle at Ann Arbor (CBS—2 p.m. CST).

The Spartans are currently tied with Northwestern for fourth place and have hopes of finishing fourth at Michigan's expense.

Northwestern is at home to Illinois. The Illini earlier defeated Northwestern, 104-89.

In the only other game tonight, Ohio State is at Indiana. The Big Ten winds up the season Monday with Iowa at Michigan.

A point of interest tonight will be the Big Ten individual scoring race. Dick Garmaker of Minnesota leads with 329 points but right at his heels is Frank Ehnmann of Northwestern. Ehnmann has 327 points. Also in the race is Don Schindt of Indiana. Big Ten scoring champion the last two years. He has 322 points.

Notes Of Poet Whitman Stolen

DETROIT (P)—A treasured diary containing the personal notes of the 19th century American poet Walt Whitman has been reported stolen from an exhibit case in the Detroit Public Library.

Ralph A. Ulveling, library director, reported the theft yesterday. He said the volume was worth more than $25,000 and was the most valuable single item in the library.

It belongs to Charles E. Feinberg Detroit oil company executive. Feinberg loaned it to the library for a Whitman exhibit.

The book was in a locked glass case on the second floor of the spacious main library in the city's art center.

Police said the thief apparently unbolted one end of the glass case, took the book, the rebolted the case.

The book is covered with dark green cloth and is labeled "Day Book or Memorandum."

It contains personal memoranda of the poet between the years 1876-1889. Most of the notations concern Whitman's day-to-day life and have few references to his poetry.

Ulveling said the thief would have a difficult time disposing of the volume. When the exhibit opened Feb. 9 a catalog describing the exhibit was sent to libraries across the country.

The exhibition was the first at which the Whitman notebook was displayed publicly.

Scouts To Hunt 2 Lost Children

SAGINAW (P)—Seventy Boy Scouts were mobilized today for a new search for Charles Schram, 10, and his sister, Georgina, 8, who disappeared from their home outside the nearby village of Birch Run last Feb. 23.

Sheriff Clarence Kackmeister has doubts that the children drowned in Flint River, although they were last definitely reported seen on the swollen stream's banks at 6:30 p. m. Feb. 23.

The search by the Scouts is centered in a 55-acre tract of wooded, swampy land near Fosters, 10 miles south of Saginaw. Fosters is seven miles from the Schram home and the point where it was first believed the children had fallen into the river.

Kackmeister said there have been belated reports of children resembling the missing brother and sister being seen at Fosters the evening of Feb. 23. He also pointed out that dragging of the Flint River produced no bodies.

Mrs. Ruby Burgess, of Fosters, reported this week that she heard screams, which sounded like those of children, the night the two disappeared.

Auto Racers Note Golden Wedding

FLINT (P)—Mr. and Mrs. Albert Meeboer, who were married while they "whirled around a race track" in a horseless carriage have celebrated their Golden Wedding anniversary.

Back in 1904, an automobile dealer in Muskegon, Mich., advertised he would give a wedding ring, furniture, and boat trip to the couple that agreed to be married while driving around the fairgrounds racetrack.

Meeboer and his fiancée responded, and Muskegon Chronicle reported they were married "With the scent of gasoline . . . as they whirled around a race track at 20 miles an hour."

Fifty years later, the Meeboers did not choose to re-enact the event. They celebrated at home with an open house.

Business Is Good But More Need Jobs

NEW YORK (P)—A storm is building up over the outlook for jobs in this period of good times. Are the chances of landing a job getting better or worse?

The debate arises from this: Business is better than a year ago. But more people are out of work.

Many of those who are working have better take-home pay—either from fatter hourly wage rates or

Chicago Baroness Finds Market For Titles Is Slow

CHICAGO (P)—The American market for European titles seems to be slow these days.

Take the case of Lina von Lamezan, who has offered to sell the title of baroness.

She ran a series of notices, the first one nine days ago, in the personal column of a newspaper.

There has been no sale thus far. But she has received an armload of letters, a copy of a religious poem, a bouquet and a song dedicated to her and entitled "The Baroness Waltz."

Mrs. Von Lamezan, a childless widow, is 81 and lives in a time-worn, stove-heated cottage on Chicago's northwest side.

She told a newsman Friday that most of the letter writers were people who had some interest but only modest means.

"Some look good," she said. "I'll have to write to them."

Mrs. Von Lamezan explains that she does not have a simple sale in mind. In return for an unspecified sum of money, she says, she will adopt a suitable person who wants to share the title now and inherit it after her death.

She also says she came by the title through marriage in 1926 in Chicago to Baron Franz von Lamezan, who died about five years ago, at his family's home in Freiburg, Germany.

One of the letters was from a 10-year-old girl who likes to read fairy tales. She wanted to be a princess.

The flowers—yellow jonquils—were brought by a Chicago woman.

"She was from the old country," Mrs. Von Lamezan said, "and just wanted to talk."

The waltz, written in ink on lined music composition paper, was sent in the mail by a Chicago woman.

VALUABLE LIFT

ODESSA, Tex. (P)—"I sure am glad I was picked up," said a 44-year-old Negro on trial for drunkenness.

"There I was away out in the country and walking into town." He figured the lift was worth the $10 fine.

from longer work weeks. And their pay buys a little more at the store or gets them better quality goods at the old price.

Mechanization Is Factor

Union leaders, however, warn that unemployment may rise further this month—perhaps reach four million. Chiefly they cite a constantly growing labor force. But they also worry about the results of mechanization in the factories—more machines and better machines can turn out the same amount of goods with fewer workers.

Latest Census Bureau estimates, for mid-January, put unemployment at 3,347,000, up half a million in a month, and more than half a million higher than a year earlier.

Economists of the Guaranty Trust Co. of New York, however, say the rise early this year was seasonal. The National City Bank of New York, in its March letter out today, thinks some of the worrying about present unemployment is baseless, and it doubts if "overflow employment" is a state to be desired.

Labor Shortage Foreseen

After saying that a certain amount of unemployment is normal, the bank economists assert that the official unemployment figures reflect not only those really looking for work but also the fact that currently idle "people often are choosier about the jobs they will take, willing to wait for what they want, and reluctant to change employer, occupation or residence."

Labor leaders doubtless will have quick replies for the points the bank economists make. The unions stress that the fundamental need is for more jobs as more people reach working age.

But a somewhat different view is taken by Peter F. Drucker, management consultant, in this month's issue of Harper's magazine. He holds that a labor shortage is in the making.

List Of Jobless Shows Decline

DETROIT (P)—A slight cut in unemployment from mid-January to mid-February was reported by the Michigan Employment Security Commission (MESC) today.

Employment levels remained high in the continuing big automobile production, the report indicated.

The number of idle workers in the state fell 9,000 and that in Detroit by 6,000 the monthly report said. Michigan's unemployment at Feb. 15 was estimated at 144,000, Detroit's at 80,000.

The MESC, reporting on what it called the "magnitude" of the Detroit metropolitan area's 1954 idleness, said compensation payments averaged $7,822,000 monthly for the year. It said this was one of the highest averages in Detroit's postwar history.

Veterans To Get Bonus In April

LANSING (P)—State officials today denied the charge of a legislator that Korean War veterans bonuses would be delayed for 30 days because someone forgot to order paper for applications.

The Legislature Friday approved a bill setting up machinery for the bonus payment after wrangling and dawdling over details for eight weeks.

State Controller James W. Miller said that an office would be manned and ready to start processing claims "around April 1." The military establishment, which will handle applications, says veterans won't start receiving checks until mid-April.

Rep. John W. Fletcher (R-Centerville) told the House Friday that the payments would be held up a month because someone slipped up and failed to order enough paper for applications.

"This is certainly an exhibition of something or other on the part of the bureaucrats," Fletcher said.

Miller said requisitions for the paper are now ready, and arrangements have been made to waive the usual wait for delivery.

In other action Friday, the House passed a bill making careless, negligent or reckless use of firearms a misdemeanor.

Ancient Autos Best, Says Owner Of 250

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (P)—Millions of Americans are proud and happy owners of new shiny 1955 model motor cars.

But if you are going to have a second automobile in the family, Henry Austin Clark Jr., suggests you be a real rugged individualist and shop around for a fine old sturdy 1915 Model T Ford or a snazzy 1919 Stutz Bearcat.

Clark, 37-year-old sugar heir, is one of the nation's leading antique car collectors. He has some 250 models.

Stilbestrol Effect On Ranch Mink Is Under Study At MSC

EAST LANSING—Mink ranchers should be aware of the origin of the packing house by-products they feed their animals. They may get such items as tripe and livermeal from cattle that have been fed stilbestrol—the female sex hormone that's used to boost gains on feedlot steers. And no one is sure right now that such meat would be safe for feeding mink.

These are words of caution from the men in charge of fur animal nutrition experiments at Michigan State College—Nutritionist Paul E. Kifer, Poultryman P. J. Schaible and Physiologist Joseph Meites.

They say that research is underway to find out for sure if such food would be harmful to mink. The M. S. C. scientists indicate that they do know that too much of the female sex hormone will interfere with the reproductive performance of both female and male mink.

Clark insists "modern models lack many qualities of old autos grandad drove in the adventurous age of motoring. "The new cars all have several extra feet of useless metal encasing nothing," he observed. "and a lot of them are plastered with chromium plated on for no obvious reason."

"They've sacrificed individuality at the altar of mass production. Unless you pick an unusual two-tone job, you can't tell one car from another. But if you're driving an 1894 finis you don't have any trouble finding it in a parking lot."

Clark believes the most valuable and desirable old car in the country is his 1910 Simplex sports car, which "will still do 80 to 90 miles an hour easily."

Electricians Bid For Annual Wage

FORT WAYNE, Ind. (P)—Al Hartnett, secretary-treasurer of the International Union of Electrical Workers (CIO), was to speak on automation today at a meeting of the union's conference board which is studying the guaranteed annual wage.

Automation is a term used to describe the production of goods by untended machines.

David Lasser, research director of the IUE, told the board Friday that radio and television manufacturers have "promoted the necessity for a guaranteed annual wage themselves."

The meeting is planning demands for forthcoming contract negotiations with the Radio Corp. of America and other manufacturers.

Lasser outlined a plan to establish a guaranteed annual wage through a fund to be built up completely by employers' contributions until it reaches 5 per cent of the payroll, or about 12 weeks pay. This fund could be tapped to pay laid-off employees after the first year.

The situation has been relatively quiet since then but demonstrators marched to government house again today demanding arms with which to defend themselves against the Israelis.

The wives and children of truce team observers were sent under the U.N. flag by automobile through Israel to Arab Jerusalem.
